PRICE SEVEN CENTS

Readying Tents for Exhibits

Everything is ready for the opening of the 1965 Ulster County Fair at Forsyth Park Wednesday, Aug. 18, at 10 a. m.

All of the 10 large tents and the show ring were in place by Monday night and most of the interior work will be completed today.

This joint announcement was made today by C. Chester DuMond Jr., president of the Ulster County Agricultural Society sponsor of the fair and Albert Kurdt, manager of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, who has served as secretary of the Agricultural Society for the past 30 years.

The Ulster County Fair has several most unusual features. First of all, admission is free and all of the work of staging the fair is carried on by volunteers.

The fair remains open until 10 p. m.

Wednesday. On Thursday, August 19, it opens at 9:30 a. m. and closes at 5 p. m. Most of the open classes will be judged Wednesday, including the cattle and 4-H Club horses. All of the open class judging in the horse department, including the horse show, will take place all day Thursday starting at 9:30 in the morning.

More than the usual number of commercial and educational exhibits will be found at the 1965 fair. As usual, the WSCS of the St. James Methodist Church will conduct the large food booth and refreshment stand. Pony rides for youngsters will also be available adjacent to the park's zoo and the usual Recreation Department dog show takes place on the tennis courts Wednesday.

UAL Tragedy First for Boeing 727

First Bodies Sighted In Great Lakes Crash

CHICAGO (AP) — A United Air Lines jet airliner with 30 aboard plunged into Lake Michigan Monday night and the first of the victims' bodies were reported sighted today.

The plane bound from New York to Chicago disappeared in a blinding flash and a roar of explosion northeast of Chicago. The lake water depth there ranges from 150 to 200 feet.

Four Recovered

James Seymour, a radio operator at Crystal Lake, Ill., reported intercepting a message from the Coast Guard Cutter Woodbine that four bodies had been recovered.

Earlier the cutter reported sighting debris and some luggage. The Woodbine is one of several vessels searching for possible survivors among the 24 passengers and crew of 6.

The Boeing 727 three-engine jet presumably crashed into the lake, killing the 30 aboard.

Debris Spotted

The spokesman said the Coast Guard reported that they spotted the debris and luggage about 15 miles in the lake off Waukegan, Ill., about 45 miles north of Chicago. The Woodbine, stationed at Grand Haven, Mich., was one of several boats making a search.

Thunderstorms broke out during the early morning along the north shore of Lake Michigan, hampering the search.

It had passed a weak weather front successfully and was in almost calm atmosphere with good visibility when the blast wiped it off the airport radar screen.

Ex-ALPA Head Victim

One of those aboard was Clarence L. (Clancy) Sayen, a Seattle, Wash., businessman, who as president of the Air Line Pilots Association for nearly 11 years had worked unstintingly for air safety legislation. Sayen, a former pilot left ALPA in May 1962.

Friends and relatives waiting at the airport to greet those aboard received their first intimation of disaster when they were directed to the fair line's red carpet room, a plush salon normally reserved for dignitaries.

Newsmen who sought to interview relatives were barred from the salon by security guards. Those who tried to talk to waiting persons before they were closed off were fended away by air line employees.

As the first of the segregated persons emerged shaken and

Diplomats Are Elated U.N. Showdown Off

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.N. diplomats were elated today over the new U.S. policy ending the threat of a U.S.-Soviet showdown over unpaid peacekeeping assessments.

The diplomats agreed that the U.S. retreat, announced by Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, opens the way for resumption of normal operations of the General Assembly after a year of paralysis.

The American abandonment of the fight to force the Russians to pay up drew approval and condemnation from members of the U.N. Congress. Officials of the Johnson administration anticipated a new campaign for a close look at future requests for U.S. money for the United Nations.

Soviets Cautious
Reaction from Soviet delegates to the United Nations was cautious, but chief delegate Platon D. Morozov commented that "unless we are mistaken and deluded" there is now substantial agreement on normalization of the assembly's work.

He added, however, that the Soviet Union wanted firm guarantees and not just a statement that the United States had decided not to invoke Article 19 of the U.N. Charter. This article provides that a member country will lose its vote in the assembly if it fails two years behind in paying assessments. The Soviet Union, France and 11 other countries are in this category because of refusal to pay for peacekeeping operations.

Remarkable Speech
Britain's Lord Caradon said Goldberg had delivered "a remarkable speech." It was the first U.N. speech of the former Supreme Court justice since he succeeded the late Adlai E.

Levitt Starts Drive To Repeal Sales Tax

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — State Comptroller Arthur Levitt is battling with Gov. Rockefeller's administration again — this time in an effort to repeal the new state sales tax.

Levitt opened his drive Monday by declaring that state income-tax collections would exceed Rockefeller's estimates for the current fiscal year by $50 million.

This indicated, Levitt said, that the sales tax "could have been avoided."

The 2 per cent levy that went into effect Aug. 1 is expected to produce at least $250 million in the current fiscal year and about $600 annually when fully effective.

Levitt announced last week that he had begun a new study aimed at developing alternative come tax collections for the first four months of the fiscal year totaled $418 million, compared with $370 million for the comparable period a year ago.

At this rate, he said, the full year's collections would run about $50 million beyond the $1,185,000,000 estimated by Rockefeller in drafting his budget.

Rockefeller's estimate anticipated an income-tax gain of $65 million for the full fiscal year. Levitt's report showed an increase of $48 million in the first four months alone.

Joseph M. Murphy state tax commissioner did not dispute Levitt's figures in commenting on the comptroller's statement.

The commissioner maintained, however, that it was not possible to draw a conclusion for the full year on the basis of four months' returns.

For example, he said, returns for the comparable period last year were in $70 million but, when the year ended, the net gain was only $12 million.

Doctors Check Out Astronauts

BY JOHN BARBOUR
AP Science Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The doctors take over today to check out the most important factors in Thursday's planned Gemini 5 space flight—the human beings who will endure eight days in orbit.

L. Gordon Cooper Jr., a relaxed veteran of 34 hours in space, and Charles Conrad Jr., an energetic newcomer, undergo their last major physical examinations before blastoff.

Weather No Major Concern
Then they sit down with the Gemini team of scientists and engineers to review the prospects for the flight—including the worldwide weather picture and some boiling potential trouble spots in the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

The weather items were not of major concern—but lurking in the backs of the minds of the space flight planners was the fact that this is the beginning of the hurricane season for the southern United States.

Weather experts—saying that there was no prospect of bad weather for the flight—were still keeping an eye on two low pressure points in the Atlantic that conceivably could give birth to tropical storms.

In the Pacific, two typhoons named Lucy and Mary, were churning their way through recovery and tracking areas south of Japan—and one tracking ship, the coastal sentry Quebec, got under way to sidestep Mary's fury.

Gemini officials said they did not expect these two Pacific storms to affect the planned launching. Recovery ships in the path of Lucy could be moved if necessary.

Don't Pose Threats
In the Atlantic, one depression that might yield a hurricane was located 1,600 miles east of Puerto Rico, and the second was east of the Windward Islands, both days from launch and recovery areas. Neither was expected to be a threat to the space flight.

Thunderheads which boil up over the Florida peninsula this time of year rarely develop before noon at the launch area—and are cleared away again by night. The launching is scheduled for 9 a.m. Eastern Standard Time.

Hearings Begin On Courts and The Free Press

BY JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — A knotty constitutional question—how to protect the right to fair trial without infringing on freedom of the press—occupies two Senate subcommittees in special hearings starting today.

The hearings involve the question whether restrictions should be placed on what the press and broadcasters can say about criminal cases. The subcommittees on Constitutional Rights and on Improvements in Judicial Machinery are devoting four days to exploring the issues.

Morse Bill

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., has introduced a bill, with 13 other senators as cosponsors, to make it a contempt of court punishable by a $1,000 fine for a federal employee or for a defendant or his attorney to make available for publication any information not properly filed with a court if it might affect the outcome of any pending criminal litigation.

Morse was to be one of the first witnesses, along with Assistant Atty. Gen. Fred Vinson, spokesman for The Associated Press, Managing Editors Association and the American Society of Newspaper Editors, and others.

The general subject has increasingly engaged the attention of the courts, bar associations and news media. Several newspaper groups have established committees to study it.

Study for Years

The Constitutional Rights subcommittee, under the chairmanship of Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., prepared for the hearings with a year-long background study of the constitutional issues involved.

Ervin and Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., chairman of the Judicial Machinery subcommittee, sent letters to members of the press, the bench, the bar, law professors and others asking for their views.

Specifically, comment was asked on "the possible conflict between the constitutional right of a criminal defendant to a fair trial and the traditional guar-

Benedictine Is Again Accredited By Commission

Sister Mary Charles, O.S.B., and Edwin B. Bolz, co-administrators of the Benedictine Hospital, announced today that the hospital has again received the full three-year accreditation by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals.

The Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals is comprised of four national medical and hospital organizations. They are The American College of Physicians, The American College of Surgeons, The American Hospital Association and The American Medical Association.

The co-administrators stated that "the accreditation program officially sponsored by the Commission is a voluntary, cooperative, non-profit public service for the public. Accreditation adds work for doctors and hospitals and it cost a lot of money—more than half a million dollars each year nationally from funds of the organizations comprising the Commission. Yet this expenditure of time and money is made gladly for one purpose only—the benefit of the patient."

"What is unique about the Commission's accreditation program is that it is entirely voluntary. The decision to seek accreditation is made by the individual hospital."

"To the public knowledge that a hospital is accredited is a source of pride. Above all, the seal of accreditation is a symbol of confidence to the community. The stamp of accreditation gives the public a kind of insurance, backed by the medical and hospital professions, that the welfare of every patient is entrusted to competent, dedicated hands."

Saugerties Trustee Resigns

50 Attend Discussion On Speed Boats, Skiers

Anticipating an opportunity to speak and learn more about the problem of highpowered speed-boats and water skiers on the Upper Esopus Creek, approximately 50 residents attended Monday night's Saugerties Village Board meeting.

A State Conservation Department representative was expected to attend.

Department Notified
Mayor Cornelius Cox reported he had notified the Conservation Department about the situation and asked how the problem could be alleviated.

The matter of water skiing and use of highpowered speed-boats on the creek was precipitated by a formal request for a boat launching site along the creek. The one adjacent to the municipal bathing beach was closed due to the necessity of a fence at that site. The request was made by a delegation at the August 2 meeting of the board. The group previously requested the board to study the feasibility of establishing a launching site at the July 21 meeting. On Aug. 2 the group brought in suggestions of two possible sites.

Mayor Cox said Neil F. Gillson, enforcement representative of the Conservation Department made an inspection along the creek on Aug. 4, but a report from the department has not been sent to the board.

The mayor said he will invite Gillson to a special meeting of the board and invited all those interested in the problem to attend to discuss the matter.

Notes No Objections
Attorney Morris Rosenblum asked that it be noted in the minutes that of all those present at the meeting, there were no objections to establishment of a launching site.

However, Village Clerk James V. Gage read letters received from Robert C. Cline and William P. Luce, both residents along the creek. The letters cited the condition of fast motorboat operation and water skiers, and indicated the hazard to others using the waters. Both objected to a launching site.

Some of those attending reported on motorboat speeding on the upper creek. Property owners on the creek claimed that water skiers came too close to the shore, jeopardizing children swimming at private docks. One powerboat was observed pulling three skiers at one time, it was reported.

Assessment Given by Evangelist Violence Dying, Show of Force Set

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Violence dwindled today in Los Angeles' vast Negro district after six days of rioting which Evangelist Billy Graham called "a dress rehearsal for a revolution."

Streets Deserted

Police reported streets in the 46-square-mile area were deserted throughout the night.

At a field command post Capt. Dale Steck said: "It looks like we can expect little action during the day, but we'll continue a show of force to prevent outbreaks."

Graham, after a helicopter tour of the riot area, told newsmen, "The racial problem will be solved more peacefully in the South than it will in the North."

He called the violence which has taken 33 lives in Los Angeles "a dress rehearsal for a revolution" and added: "If 30 or 40 cities became ensnared in this kind of havoc at the same time, it would take the armed might of the United States to quell them."

In midmorning police gave this picture of slowly dying violence:

Few Calls on Looting
From 6 p.m. to midnight Monday night they received 33 reports of shootings. From midnight to 3 a.m., 14 reports. After that, no reports of shootings, and only a few calls about looting.

Just before 3 a.m. two national guardsmen were hurt, one critically, when a car crashed through a roadblock. Police said the driver, not a Negro, was jailed.

Courts processed the first of more than 3,000 suspected rioters arrested.

Food Markets Open
Food markets opened and clerks, some wearing pistols, sold food as troops stood guard.

City and county offices were opened, buses rolled again, mail delivery was resumed, and cleanup crews tackled wreckage left by six days of turmoil.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown declared the riots ended.

But 15,000 National Guards-

Rosendale Boy Admits Making Annoying Calls

A 16-year-old Town of Rosendale boy, taken into custody by state and town police in connection with a number of annoying telephone calls in that township, admitted the charges at his appearance Monday afternoon before Peace Justice Daniel J. McMonagle.

Due to the boy's age and in view of the fact that he had no previous record, the youth was treated as a youthful offender and imposition of any sentence was suspended. Under the provisions of the Youthful Offender Act, the youth's name is not revealed and the papers are held confidential.

The case climaxed a lengthy investigation by Senior Investigator Michael Lisman of the BCI and Trooper Norman Kilfoyle, of the state police, and Chief Constable Harold Bowers of the Rosendale constabulary. Chief Bowers said that the constabulary cooperated with the state police, whose efficiency should be a warning to other would-be offenders.

Bowers said that the series of annoying telephone calls, made in both Rosendale and Hurley townships, had on connection with threatening calls made to members of the Town Board. It was reported earlier that a number of board members had received threatening calls in connection with the current controversy over the town constabulary and the purchase of a second car for their use. The board subsequently turned down a petition signed by town taxpayers requesting a referendum on the police car purchase.

Chief Bowers said that the threatening phone calls are still under investigation.

COOLING OFF—Youngsters splash around in pool at Forsyth Park Monday afternoon in effort to cool off as temperatures soared to a sticky 94 degrees. More of the same is predicted through Thursday with some thundershower activity Wednesday and Thursday. With the hot, humid weather, area residents are expected to flock to public and private pools in search of some comfort, however temporary. Even overnight temperatures go no lower than 70 degrees. (Freeman photo by Wagenfohr)

Drought Blamed For Fire Loss, State Vols Hear

UTICA — High fire losses in New York State in recent years are due "at least in part" to the drought, delegates to the 83rd annual convention of the Firemen's Association of New York State were told today.

Paul E. Lockwood, Schenley Industries' vice president, cited insurance company figures which indicated a 30 per cent increase in insured fire losses in New York from 1959 to 1963. The increase for the same period for the nation as a whole, Lockwood said, was less than 7 per cent.

Cites Disparity

"Such a disparity must have an abnormal, non-business cause," Lockwood said. "Drought conditions obviously increase the hazard of fire. And fires tend to be more destructive when the water needed to put them out is neither plentiful nor handy."

The seldom-quoted figures compared by Lockwood dealt with compensated property losses attributed to fire. For New York State, they aggregated $102,462,183 in 1959 and $132,738,784 in 1963, the last full year for which records are available.

The comparable national figures, Lockwood said, are $963,009,875 for 1959 and $1,029,401,778 for 1963.

Estimates of uninsured woodland losses due to fire confirm and amplify these figures, Lockwood said. He said the State Conservation Department has noted an increase in the frequency of fires in woodland areas in New York in the past three years.

Wins Award

The Firemen's Association is the state-wide organization of volunteer firemen, and Lockwood was in Utica to present the Schenley Bowl for Heroism to the Volunteer Fireman of the Year as selected by Association vote. The winner honored today, for the outstanding act of heroism in 1964, was Donald H. Price of Nyack.

On April 24, 1964, Mr. Price despite intense smoke and flames — located a child in a burning Nyack apartment and managed to hand him out through a window. The smoke was so heavy that Price was completely blinded, and "found" the window by voice directions from outside the building. He aided in removing a second child from the inferno, then applied mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to one of the children until resuscitator equipment arrived.

After treatment for his own burns, Price remained at the scene and helped with the salvage work of the Nyack Fire Patrol.

"Price faced extreme danger from the intense heat inside the small rooms and operated not only in darkness but in smoke so heavy that it obscured even objects close to his reach," the Nyack Fire Department wrote in its report recommending Price for the Fireman of the Year award.

Fireman Since 1952

Price is the owner of the Flender-Price Funeral Home in Nyack, and commissioner of the Nyack Fire Patrol. He has been a volunteer fireman since 1952. A Marine veteran of World War II, he was born in Hornell, and attended Dansville High School in Dansville. He is 37 years old.

Price was the ninth winner of the Schenley Bowl, that has been presented since 1957 to the New York Volunteer Fireman of the Year. It is awarded annually at the Firemen's Association convention for the outstanding act of heroism during the preceding year.

The Association convention opened at the Hotel Utica here on Saturday, and ends Wednesday.

Packages Really Promote Sales Of Fancy Foods

By PHILIP J. KEUPER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A spokesman for the fancy food business says people who buy caviar, kangaroo tail soup and artichoke bottoms may be fascinated more by how they look than how they taste.

Julian Cowan, president of the National Association for the Specialty Food Trade, said in an interview at the association's annual show that it's probably the package more than the exotic food inside that sparks people to buy.

"It's impossible to sell this without a fancy package," said Cowan, looking at shelves loaded with ginger-butter clam soup, sour lemon balls, orange-flavored watermelon rind and dried Mexican bananas.

Cowan and some 125 other importers, distributors and makers of fancy foods and confections are showing their wares at the association's 11th annual exhibit at New York's Coliseum. Most sellers of gourmet foods say national prosperity and the race for status has boomed their business to an all-time peak.

Many agreed that in selling Americans fancy foods, their eyes are as important as their stomachs.

Importer Alfred Schratter watched as a visitor tasted a slice of camembert.

"Camembert is an example," said Schratter. "Americans want cheese to look new, presentable. Our imported camembert has to be snow-white. In Paris, where people's eyes are more in their stomachs, they don't mind if it's brownish."

The four-day show, which ends Wednesday, is staged for about 10,000 buyers representing stores ranging from leading gourmet shops to supermarkets. Even in supermarkets, fancy food isn't cheap.

Top-grade caviar, said one dealer, sells for about $3 an ounce. Pate de foie gras, goose liver, costs $17.50 for about 11 ounces.

Anglers in the U.S. spend $300 million annually on fishing tackle and gadgets.

FULTON STAMP PREPARATIONS—Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk, inspects First Day Cover mailings from postal patrons requiring processing for Robert Fulton Stamp to be issued Aug. 19. Some of the 35 local people hired to assist affix stamps to letters as requested. Others open letters requesting first day covers. The final step in issuing first day covers will be selling and postmarking on Aug. 19. Ceremonies will be conducted that day by Deputy Postmaster General Frederick C. Belen at 2 p. m. in the Clermont town hall. The hamlet of Clermont does not have a post office so all processing of the commemorative stamp is being done in Kingston. (Freeman photos by Wagenföhr)

County Has 27th Traffic Fatal as Bronx Man Dies

Ulster County's 27th highway fatality of 1965 was recorded Monday afternoon, when Frank Pellegrino, 25, of Arno Avenue, Bronx, died at Kingston Hospital of injuries sustained Sunday morning.

Pellegrino was operating a motorcycle owned by George Kuse, 20, also of the Bronx, who was taken to the hospital here by Doctor's ambulance. Kuse was treated for injuries of the left hip.

Troopers reported that Pellegrino suffered multiple severe injuries of the head and face.

It was the second weekend highway fatality to occur in the county. John A. Adamaitis, 52, of Long Branch, N. J., was killed Friday when his car left Lower Cherrytown Road west of Route 209 near Kerhonkson and hit a utility pole.

At first it was thought Adamaitis died of a heart seizure, but Ulster County Coroner Arthur C. Chipp, Kerhonkson, said an autopsy disclosed death was due to internal hemorrhages. The coroner said he ruled death was accidental and it was listed as a highway fatality.

Two passengers in the vehicle owned by the United Galmudical Academy, Brooklyn, operator of Camp Rav-Tov for Boys near Kerhonkson, were injured in the Friday afternoon mishap.

League of Women Voters to Have Booth at Fair

As a public service to area residents the League of Women Voters of Kingston, New Paltz, Woodstock and Saugerties will again man a booth at the Ulster County Fair to distribute registration and voting information. A demonstration in the use of the voting machine was a most successful feature of last year's Fair and will be repeated. Over 200 people at the 1964 Fair received instruction.

Material will be available explaining Proposition 1 which will make possible the financing of the pure waters program for New York State. The measure, which received unanimous endorsement by both parties of the Legislature, will be voted on in November.

Copies of "Handbook of Ulster County" and "The Town and Village of Saugerties" will be on sale.

The League of Women Voters is a non-partisan organization whose purpose is to promote informed citizen participation in government. All women aged 21 who are eligible to vote are welcome to become members.

FBI Is Assisting In $100,000 Jewel Theft Probe

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) — The FBI is lending a hand investigating the theft of $100,000 in jewelry from house guests of former film producer Gene Markey and his wife.

Police revealed Monday that the gems had been stolen from Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bathrick. Bathrick is a New York City financier.

Mrs. Bathrick said she discovered that the gems and $400 in cash were missing when she awakened Saturday morning at the Markeys' fashionable home near the Saratoga Golf and Polo Club.

Saratoga Springs police said the FBI had been called into the case because interstate transportation of stolen goods may be involved.

Po'keepsie Loses 100,000 Gallons In Water Break

Although parched like everywhere else in the current drought, Poughkeepsie residents were faced with a shortage in water pressure today when a 20-inch water main broke about 5 a. m. near the intersection of Mitchell and South Grand Avenues. City Engineer Kenneth E. Pearce said that although the break resulted in a loss of 100,000 gallons of the precious liquid, it caused a decline in pressure in many areas, including the Eighth Ward and Vassar College area, rather than a loss of water. The break, which was discovered by a police officer about 5:15 this morning, spewed water for between 15 and 20 minutes before repairs could be made.

More Federal Aid Sought for 12 Parched Counties

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — More federal aid was sought today for drought-plagued farmers in 12 counties of Upstate New York. In a telegram to the U.S. Agriculture Department Monday, Acting Gov. Malcolm Wilson asked that the farmers be permitted to buy livestock feed from surplus federal supplies. The counties are Clinton, Columbia, Dutchess, Essex, Franklin, Greene, Orange, Rensselaer, Saratoga, Sullivan, St. Lawrence, Ulster and Washington. Under the livestock-feed program, farmers may purchase grain at 75 per cent of the price support rate if they cannot obtain enough feed from normal channels without undue hardship.

Partner's Trick Taken to Set

BY JACOBY & SON

When should you deliberately overtake your partner's trick? Sometimes you do so to unblock for him, but the outstanding time to overtake his trick is when you want to take control of the defense.

Now take a look at the East hand and the bidding only. Your partner opens the king of hearts against South's four spade contract and you note that dummy holds three hearts to the jack. At first glance it would appear to be silly to overtake partner's king of hearts. You would be starting to establish the jack of hearts as a trick whereas if you played low that jack would never do declarer any good.

That is at first glance. At second glance you should see a very good reason to overtake his king.

South has jumped right to four spades after receiving a single raise from his partner. You are looking at the ace and queen of trumps so that the best trump holding he can have of clubs and ace queen of diamonds. In that case you will have to depend on spades and hearts to beat the contract if you let nature take its course.

If South has three hearts you can cash three heart tricks. Suppose he only holds two. You can still beat the hand by winning the first trick with the ace of hearts and returning your singleton diamond. Later on you will take the first trump lead—put your partner in with the queen of hearts and ruff a diamond for your fourth trick.

MINUET AT GENEVA

One commentary on the present round of disarmament talks at Geneva described the proceedings as "a diplomatic minuet in the mode of 19th century balance-of-power politics." Whatever wry amusement one may squeeze from this is overshadowed by the fact that this minuet is being danced to a funeral tune.

The world has just marked, with solemnity and prayer, the 20th anniversary of Hiroshima's destruction. Solemnity is appropriate, both in retrospect and even more when one considers the future. Unless the disarmament negotiations produce effective means of reducing the nuclear stockpile and halting the proliferation of nuclear weapons capability, prayer may be all that is left to us.

The Geneva talks thus far have been a grave disappointment. Declarations that the need for nuclear arms control is more urgent than ever have limped along in harness with the usual fruitless collision of opposing views.

There is still hope that the negotiators will get down to business and act as if they really feel the sense of urgency they talk about. One possible chance of progress lies in the proposal of Mrs. Alva Myrdal, chief of Sweden's delegation, that an intensive effort be made to reach agreement on certain points on which the U.S.S.R. and the United States are not far apart. One of these is extension of the nuclear test ban to include underground blasts.

This approach promises no dramatic accomplishment. But if the big powers could bring themselves to push hard for such step-by-step progress, the talks would begin to get somewhere. Even small steps toward arms control would be welcomed by a world tired of polemics and fearful of the atomic threat.

VISITANT FROM SPACE

Anyone with a theory to account for the rash of "unidentified flying object" sightings is free to speak up. There has been no lack of takers. Big thunderheads shot through with lightning, aircraft at high altitudes, weather balloons and such, searchlights scudding among the clouds, and so on; one has a choice of these and many other suggested explanations, including the recurrent and not unlikely thought that some people see what they want to see even when nothing is there.

Two notions, one quite plausible and the other 'way-out but not incredible, are especially intriguing. The first of these is that debris from various space shots from time to time leaves its orbital path and plunges into the atmosphere, sometimes with a colorful display of light. It is not hard to see that such an occurrence might give rise to stories of erratic flight.

The idea that really sends us, though, has been propounded by Prof. Robert L. Brown of Southern Connecticut College. He thinks lunar dust stirred up by the crash of Lunik V may be the culprit, producing a luminous glow as it filters into our atmosphere. That sounds gratifyingly scientific. It even postulates a bona fide visitant (albeit a mere dust speck) from out in space.

LAWYERS ASK GUN CURB

Those who oppose any tighter federal regulation of the sale and shipment of firearms like to talk about the Second Amendment to the Constitution. It says, in its entirety: "A well-regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed."

The special pleaders come down heavily on the last half of that sentence, and tend to ignore the condition first stated — that the right to have firearms springs from the need for a militia which is "necessary to the security." The truth is that we have not had that kind of a militia for many years, and that the right to own a gun has almost nothing to do with national defense under modern conditions.

Those who quote the Constitution so glibly in defense of a hands-off policy on

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

OF MOLES AND CHAMELEONS

If you see a mole-run, it's only common sense to suspect that a mole must be the cause of it. And it's always easy to see where a mole-run goes.

Well, what sort of mole-run was presented by the so-called Assembly of Unrepresented People which invaded the Capitol grounds the other day in Washington and, like Coxey's Army in the Eighteen Nineties, was arrested for stopping traffic or walking on the grass?

One leader of the march on the Capitol was Staughton Lynd, a professor of history at Yale University. Lynd is a Quaker. He is also an admirer of old Henry David Thoreau, who refused to pay taxes to support the Mexican War back in the Eighteen Forties. Thinking, no doubt, to emulate his master, Lynd refused to pay that portion of his income tax last spring which, in his judgment, would have been used to defray the expense of the war in Vietnam. Thoreau, a believer in freedom, would very probably have paid his taxes to keep the Communists from overrunning South Vietnam. At least that's my guess.

Nobody should put any specific tag on the molemanship of Professor Lynd. But what are we to make of it when a mole is also a chameleon? Just a few short months ago Staughton Lynd was hot for the civil rights cause. The Washington march of the Assembly of Unrepresented People was billed as a demonstration for peace and civil rights. But the march which Staughton Lynd helped run was not a civil rights march. Its objective was to get Congress to stop the war in Vietnam. Forgotten were the Negroes of Mississippi.

More and more it appears that the Left has pulled a switch in its strategy for disturbing the welkin in the U. S. It still makes use of the American Negroes. It still sings "We Shall Overcome." But its single aim now is to overcome Lyndon Johnson's hopes for attaining a peace with honor in Asia.

What sort of mole burrowing does this represent? And who were the "unrepresented people" whom the Assembly of Unrepresented People was professing to represent? What was the Assembly trying to prove by its "petition in boots" that ended with the mass arrests in Washington?

If the Assembly was marching to get non-pacifistic reasons, why weren't they carrying at least a few signs calling for the Viet Cong to stop torturing South Vietnamese who want only to be left in peace? Why weren't they flying at least a few banners aimed at Castro's firing squads? Why weren't they protesting Nasser's shipments of rifles to Central Africa?

If the Assembly was marching to get non-whites the vote, or, as was advertised, to try to unseat some of the Representatives from Mississippi in Congress, why the total silence on alleged domestic U. S. shortcomings? Or, for that matter, why a silence on the kind of election laws they have in Cuba, North Vietnam, Red China, Soviet Russia, Tito's Yugoslavia, Kadar's Hungary, the three little Baltic States, East Germany and Poland?

The burrowing done by the moles-turned-chameleons in the march of the Assembly of Unrepresented People was all in one direction. The extreme Left, in America, has only one abiding interest at the moment, and that is to defeat the foreign policy of the U. S.

Insofar as the Negroes have been used to the end of disrupting U. S. foreign policy, it is a tragedy. For it gives aid and comfort to all the anti-logic crew who hold that it is atheistic, communistic, anarchistic and what-have-you when a member of an ethnic minority stands up and declares that he, too, should be covered by the provisions of the U. S. Bill of Rights, which was written for all citizens.

I don't know anything about what goes on in Professor Staughton Lynd's mind. But I'm telling him and other members of the Assembly of Unrepresented People that the Negroes of the United States have been had. And by the very people who, yesterday, were professing the fiercest undying allegiance to the Negro cause.

Surplus of Kidneys Not So Unusual

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

After having said in a recent column that I could find no record of a person having three kidneys, I have received over a dozen letters from readers who themselves have, or have relatives who have, three or even four kidneys. Usually the extra kidney is smaller than normal. Often it is also nonfunctioning and when this is the case it is usually removed because such a kidney is highly susceptible to cancer.

Q—I am a housewife, 56. My doctor says that bony spurs are forming on my spine. Shouldn't I be on a low calcium diet?

A—When bony spurs form on the spine, often there are no symptoms and the spurs are found only when an X-ray film is made for some other purpose. If, however, you have much backache, heat and massage are the best treatment. A brace or orthopedic corset may also give you relief.

Odd as it may seem a low-calcium diet is not recommended because this may lead to a loss of calcium in the spine itself (osteoporosis) and a tendency for the vertebrae to collapse. This is especially common in women who have passed the menopause.

Q—My doctor says I have a bony spur on the under side of one heel. What caused it? Will it have to be cut out or will cortisone dissolve it?

A—Bony spurs on the heel may be the result of aging, the stress of carrying a lot of excess weight or weak arches. Nothing will dissolve them but cortisone may take away any inflammation surrounding them and relieve your pain. If this doesn't work and the pain is severe, surgical removal of the spur is the treatment of choice.

Q—Should a sebaceous cyst continue to drain for six months after it has been lanced?

A—No. If you have such a lesion (also called a wen) you should either have it completely removed or find out what germ is causing the infection so that appropriate antibiotics can be used.

Q—A couple we know had hepatitis recently. I have heard that it is contagious. Could my husband and I contract hepatitis if we eat with them or go to their house?

A—Hepatitis is an infection caused by a virus. Although it may be transmitted by intimate contact during the acute stage, there is no danger when a week has elapsed after the onset of the disease. The usual mode of transmission is through contaminated water, milk and other foods.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Can It Be Stopped?

Washington News

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Late last month the Communist party called 80 selected Red youths in from all over the United States for a secret training school.

The sessions were held at Camp Midvale, at Ringwood, N.J., about 35 miles from New York City. Students were hand-picked as potential future leaders of the senior Communist party.

The meetings were so secret that the two weeks they were there the students were prohibited from communicating with the outside world. No phone calls were permitted, incoming or outgoing. Students were not allowed to send letters from the camp. As an added security measure, students used only their first names for the two weeks.

During the sessions several leaders of the W.E.B. Du Bois (youth) Clubs of America were inducted into full membership in the Communist party.

Instructors at the school included top Reds. Communist party general secretary Gus Hall, vice-chairman Henry Winston and Claude Lightfoot, chief party theoretician. Herbert Aptheker, national youth director; Michael Zagarell, national education secretary; Hymen Lumer, national committee member; Helen Winter and veteran party officials James Jackson, Jacob Stachel, Betty Gannett and George Meyers were among the teachers.

MOST STUDENTS ATTENDING the school have now been sent to key cities to begin twin recruiting drives for the Communist party and for the Du Bois Clubs. Young people working on these drives are paid $30 a week.

The main thrust of this organizational drive centers in key Midwest cities—St. Louis, Chicago, Cleveland and Detroit.

The secret school included instruction in Lenin's works on the necessity of and the methods of achieving the violent overthrow of non-Communist governments by force.

Other courses dealt with the Communist theory of "peaceful coexistence" and how it is a form of the class struggle between Communists and non-Communists.

Course titles included "The fight for peace and against imperialist aggression in Viet Nam," "The struggle of Negroes in the United States for equality," "The class struggle and the trade union movement," "The revolutionary significance of the civil rights movement," and "The struggle for economic welfare."

REQUIRED READING INCLUDED several chapters in the Soviet Communist text "Fundamentals of Marxism-Leninism." The Communist youth were told to use every opportunity to work into the civil rights movement.

They were told to co-operate with all student drives against the United States in Viet Nam including drives which urge young men to refuse military service in Southeast Asia.

They were instructed to never miss a chance to use any youth groups available for their aims and to work through them as

Dr. King's Peace Overture To Hanoi and the Logan Act

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Dr. Martin Luther King will hardly be blamed for evidently not knowing about the Logan Act when he announced that he would get in touch with the North Viet Nam government to try to persuade it to enter into peace negotiations—for very few people are aware of what this little-used statute means.

It was designed, of course, to prevent American citizens from interfering with the foreign policy operations of their own government. Once, however, our government approves or says it has no objection—a rare occurrence—a citizen may use his influence to persuade some other government to go along with American policies. The Logan Act says:

"Any citizen of the United States, wherever he may be, who without authority of the United States, directly or indirectly communicates or carries on any correspondence or intercourse with any foreign government or any officer or agent thereof, with intent to influence the measures or conduct of any foreign government or of any officer or agent thereof, in relation to any disputes or controversies with the United States, or to defeat the measures of the United States, shall be fined not more than $5,000 or imprisoned not more than three years, or both.

"This section shall not abridge the right of a citizen to apply, himself or his agent, to any foreign government or the agents thereof for redress of any injury which he may have sustained from such government or any of its agents or subjects."

So, first of all, Dr. King would have to seek authority from the American government if he wished to communicate with a foreign government or to address an appeal to various leaders in a group of governments. If this is withheld, he cannot carry on any correspondence with the North Viet Nam government or any other government. The Department of State has to sanction such a move. There have been few instances in which the Logan Act has been enforced, though its objectives have been in part attained by the withholding of passports or the refusal to give visas for travel when individuals wish to enter countries, like Red China, with which friendly relations do not prevail.

Dr. King won the Nobel Peace Prize in 1964, and he doubtless thinks that he is eligible to take the initiative in influencing governments to settle their disputes with this country. The Viet Nam war is on every body's mind, and Dr. King presumably feels that, if he were able to advance the peace-making process with North Viet Nam, it would add to his prestige at home.

But in the minds of many people here Dr. King's proposal to help make peace by talking with or writing to the officials of the North Viet Nam government may be misinterpreted as in some way related to the "civil rights" controversy. Hence, officials are inclined to wish he would forget about Viet Nam and help to get peace in places like Los Angeles, Chicago and other cities where tragic conditions have arisen and the lives of innocent persons are being sacrificed.

Indeed, the casualties in Los Angeles last week exceeded those in the Viet Nam war in the same period. Dr. King has since announced that he will go to Los Angeles in a few days to help to make peace there.

It is unfortunate that the text of the Logan act is not more widely known and that rigid enforcement has been neglected. Some misguided Americans, with sympathy for the Communist cause, are members of organizations which are directly or indirectly aided by a foreign government. The activities, for example, of the Communist party in this country are regularly reported to — if not directed by — agents of the Soviet government. All such transactions are unlawful acts on the part of those who contact foreign governments in person or by letter.

It may well be wondered how the Communist party can be allowed to exist in the United States when there is evidence on some of these points in the hands of the Department of Justice.

Certainly there are and have been individuals who have legitimate business dealings with the Soviet government or its agents in this country. But it is important for the American government to make sure that even these business parleys do not include any activities which could be construed as an "intent to influence the measures or conduct of any foreign government or of any officer or agent thereof, in relation to any disputes or controversies with the United States."

If the Logan Act needs clarification, this should be done by Congress. If the law is valueless, it ought to be repealed. Otherwise, its prohibitions should be enforced so this can have a deterrent effect on some of the irresponsible groups which organize "demonstrations" around the White House and the Capitol. They thus arouse the hopes of foreign governments that continuation of their opposition to American policies will eventually gain the support of public opinion in this country.

Detectives' Jobs Depend on City Manager Decision

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — The jobs of two detectives accused of meeting secretly with an alleged Cosa Nostra figure depend on a decision expected next Monday from City Manager Arthur B. Curran Jr.

Curran's office announced Monday the city manager would study two reports coming out of last month's public hearing on the resignations of the two policemen.

Involved were Detective Supervisor Lucien DiGiovanni and Detective John R. Lipari, both of the vice squad.

Public Safety Commissioner Harper Sibley Jr. ordered their demotion after the policemen first denied and then admitted a meeting May 23 with Frank Valenti of Rochester, an alleged Cosa Nostra figure.

Valenti was identified in 1963 during a Senate subcommittee investigation of organized crime. Valenti also was named as a delegate in 1957 to the Appalachian crime convention.

Both detectives resigned in June rather than accept demotions to the uniform ranks, but now have sought to have their resignations withdrawn. They claim they were making a confidential survey of crime in the area.

Seeking Court Orders to Halt Water Pollution

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz is seeking court orders to halt pollution of state waters by two Upstate communities.

Lefkowitz announced Monday that he was instituting law suits against the villages of Silver Creek, in Chautauqua County, and Waterloo, in Seneca County. Silver Creek is accused of dumping raw sewage into Silver and Walnut Creeks. Waterloo, on the Seneca River and State Barge Canal, is accused of failing to treat sewage and industrial waste properly.

He said complaints would be filed in State Supreme Court in the respective counties seeking.

Orders directing an immediate halt to dumping of untreated or inadequately treated wastes into the waters.

Orders directing construction of adequate treatment facilities, with the work to be given priority over all other public works projects.

Fines of $500 against each village, for violation of the public health law, and an additional penalty of $100 a day for each day of the violation.

Predict GOP Not Making Any Cuts In LBJ Program

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Backers of a $1.65-billion authorization for President Johnson's antipoverty programs predicted today Republicans would fail to carry a fund-cutting motion in the Senate.

They conceded the outcome would be touch and go on another effort to amend the bill so as to retain state governors' veto on three types of antipoverty projects.

Sen. Peter H. Dominick, R-Colo., announced that he would propose a reduction of $553 million in antipoverty funds for the year ahead, cutting the authorization to $1,097,500,000. Any figure set would be merely a maximum permitted when Congress later votes the actual funds for the program.

Dominick said the people in his state were convinced that "little if anything effective" has been accomplished under the program there to help the poverty-stricken.

Dominick said many mayors believed that the Office of Economic Opportunity — the antipoverty agency — was "trying to wreck local government by setting the poor against city hall."

He said he had not been able to check out the information, but that he had been told the riots in Los Angeles "grew, in part, out of this kind of activity."

The Senate opened debate on the House — passed legislation Monday amid a flurry of Republican charges that the program is loaded with politics, misadministration and scandal.

Democratic leaders said the body probably will get down to voting on amendments late today, but it may be Wednesday before a final vote is taken.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., announced he would try to add a rider to the bill requiring that Sargent Shriver devote his full time to the antipoverty program.

Shriver is head of the Office of Economic Opportunity as well as of the Peace Corps.

Yale Mourning 'Dean of Deans'

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Yale University is mourning the death of its "dean of deans," William C. DeVane.

DeVane, dean of Yale College for 25 years, died Monday on vacation in Greensboro, Vt., at the age of 67.

He retired in 1963, after holding Yale's main deanship longer than any other man in Yale's history.

DeVane, a native of Savannah, Ga., joined the Yale faculty in 1922, two years after graduating from Yale College. He received his Ph.D. from Yale in 1926.

In 1934, he went to Cornell to become chairman of the English Department there. He returned to Yale in 1938 as dean of Yale College and professor of English.

Funeral services will be private. Yale will hold a memorial service held for this fall.

Rites Held for Ikeda

TOKYO (AP) — Funeral rites were held today for former Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda, the man generally credited with postwar Japan's phenomenal economic recovery.

Some 5,000 leading Japanese attended the services. Ikeda died Aug. 13 of pneumonia following an operation for cancer of the throat.

Sight Climber's Body

KLEINE SCHEIDEGG, Switzerland (AP) — The body of a Japanese climber was sighted on Elger Mountain today as a group of Swiss and Japanese alpinists climbed the mountain in an attempt to rescue him.

Tsuneki Watabe, 29, fell 3,900 feet to his death on the north face of the mountain from a small snow field where the injured climber had been waiting for help since Sunday night.

helped by guards, a spokesman for United told reporters, "I can only tell you the plane is overdue. There were 24 passengers, including, we believe, at least two children."

Planes and helicopters from Glenview Naval Air Station flew immediately to the area where the plane disappeared, but found nothing illuminated by their dropped flares. Small boats of the Coast Guard put out for the general area east of Highland Park and Ft. Sheridan Army post. These craft based at Wilmette and Waukegan were joined by dozens of small motor yachts.

One private boat, the Slow Poke which established radio communications with the Coast Guard's shore stations, was directed to a point 11 miles due east of Ft. Sheridan estimated by the Federal Aviation Agency as the last radar fix point.

Reports Diesel Odor

Capt. Gerald T. Applegate of the Coast Guard said the Slow Poke reported a strong odor of diesel oil, but nothing else.

The Coast Guard cutter Arundel, which left Chicago to join the search, was directed to the spot as dawn approached.

The plane, United's Flight 389, was commanded by Capt. Melville W. Towle, 42, of Wyckoff, N.J., father of four children. Minutes before the tragedy, he radioed for landing instructions and acknowledged an order from the O'Hare tower to enter a pattern. He gave no indication of trouble.

Flying the plane with him was First Officer Roger M. Whitezell, 34, of North Plainfield, N.J., and Maurice L. Femmer, 26, of Elmont, N.Y., the second officer.

Three stewardesses in the plane were Phyllis M. Rickert, 22, of Chicago; Sandra H. Fuhner, 20, of Mount Prospect, Ill.; and Jeneal G. Beaver, 20, of Long Beach, Calif.

They had left La Guardia Airport on Long Island at 8:52 p.m. EDT, and would have made their scheduled landing at 9:27 CDT.

There had never been a 727 crash. There are 160 of the three-jet models in service of several airlines, the first inaugurated in December 1963.

Lake Michigan claimed one other airliner, a Northwest Airlines DC4 which crashed during a severe electrical storm June 24, 1950, killing 58.

The weather Monday night was mostly clear and calm over the lake. Apparently the flight was routine until Capt. Towle acknowledged landing pattern instructions with a brief "Roger."

A moment later, 9:20 p.m., the plane disappeared from the radar scope and efforts to contact it by radio met with silence. At the same time, dozens of persons reported they saw a blinding flash and heard the rumbling roar of an explosion over the lake.

An intensive search by small surface craft was joined early today by the Coast Guard cutter Arundel. Search conditions were favorable, with good visibility, a partly cloudy sky, and a half moon. Small waves, about one foot high, were stirred by a 5-mile southeasterly breeze.

Calls Coast Riot

men still held the 46-square-mile heart of the Los Angeles Negro district sealed within a perimeter of guns.

Said Gov. Brown: "The National Guard will remain here until the streets are safe."

Attacks by snipers and firebomb terrorists on white sections of Los Angeles divided, although there were sporadic reports of firing.

Brown said Monday: "Guerrilla fighting against gangsters continues." The governor announced Monday night he would appoint a seven-member commission to investigate "underlying causes and immediate causes and means to prevent recurrence of the riots."

Curfew Remains

An 8 p.m.-to-dawn curfew remained in effect in the area during the night. Guardsmen and police kept people from the streets and halted cars at scores of roadblocks.

Police Chief William H. Parker hinted that the Black Muslims tried to take over what started as spontaneous rioting. Police noted 45 men believed to be Muslims were bailed out of jail by a bondsman who previously represented arrested Muslims.

Said Parker: "I will say that other elements moved into it (the riots)."

Bail for the persons arrested on felony charges ran high — up to $3,000 higher than in normal times. Dist. Atty. Evelle J. Younger said: "Participation in riotous conduct must be dealt with accordingly."

The first 100 of the thousands arrested were arraigned Monday. Comparatively few were freed on bail. Posting $5,000 bail through a bondsman requires giving him $500 which is not refunded.

Three of the first 100 prisoners to be arraigned were charged with murder. Most of the others face charges of assault, burglary and arson.

Insurance underwriters said the American Insurance Association will have to rule whether payments will be made on claims for damage incurred during the violence.

Fire and looting damage is expected to exceed $200 million. One insurance executive said most policies include a clause excluding from coverage damage resulting from insurrection, which is what state authorities termed the Watts lawlessness.

Other officials said, however, that if underwriters invoke the clause claims might be paid if they were incurred before the insurrection was declared Friday.

A state law exempts the city and county from liability for damages, authorities said. At roadblocks around the sealed-off riot area the halt-and-search process was repeated countless times. The Negroes expressed little resentment toward California National Guardsmen holding guns on them.

They repeatedly voiced animosity toward Los Angeles police, however. It made officers ponder what outbreaks might follow removal of guardsmen — with an unknown number of looted weapons still in possession of now-pacified rioters.

Said Vice Squad Sgt. Lou Bonanno: "There's no question that these weapons are to be used against us — or innocent persons."

Whites Arm

White civilians rushed to arm themselves. The state attorney general's office reported the purchase of pistols jumped 250 per cent in Southern California over the weekend.

Gov. Brown found himself embroiled in a dispute over whether a visit to Los Angeles by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. would help or harm the situation. Brown said he hoped King would stay away, terming the time inopportune for "civil rights demonstrations."

Dr. King went ahead with plans to fly here from Miami, Fla., today. He told Miami newsmen he hoped to create "a community of love" in Los Angeles.

"Gov. Brown is tragically misled if he thinks my only role is to lead civil rights demonstrations," Dr. King said.

Ask Speedy Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — The New York Central and Pennsylvania Railroads have asked speedy approval of their proposed merger.

They told the Interstate Commerce Commission Monday that prompt action is necessary to improve railroad competition in the East and assure survival of smaller lines.

Say LA, Chicago Refused to Join Summer Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Riot-torn Los Angeles, along with Chicago, refused to join in a summer-long federal program designed to avert racial strife, it was learned today.

Government sources said Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty and Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley were the only two of 11 city leaders who refused to join the then-secret program.

A full-time federal official has been assigned to each of the other nine cities since the beginning of the summer.

The project was launched by President Johnson's Council on Equal Opportunities.

The federal men assigned to carry it out come from the Community Relations Service, an agency which seeks to mediate racial problems.

These men are on duty now in the other cities involved: Boston, New York, Newark, Rochester, N.Y., Detroit, Cleveland, Oakland, Calif., Philadelphia, and Gary, Ind.

Originally, Los Angeles and Chicago were to have participated too. Officials said the 11 cities were chosen as potential trouble spots.

The federal men have sought to expedite government programs designed to combat poverty. At the same time, they have tried to serve as channels of information among officials and minority groups.

So far, the nine cities served by the project have not had major racial disturbances.

When the program was set up during April and May, the government consulted the mayor of each city involved.

In Los Angeles and Chicago, one official said, the mayors replied they felt any racial tensions could be handled on the local level.

As federal officials surveyed causes of the Los Angeles rioting, the White House reported that Johnson has "anticipated everything that can be done" to overcome the social and economic ills he blames for the violence.

Dutchess Fire Victims Die

Two persons critically burned a week ago in a fire which destroyed part of a house development in Wappingers Falls died today in Barnes Hospital, St. Louis, Mo.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Axelrod, both 59, caretakers and sole occupants of a two-family apartment house at the Lee Wood Arms Development on Carmine Drive had been transferred to the hospital from Vassar Hospital in Poughkeepsie.

They suffered second and third degree burns when the two story brick building in which they were occupants was destroyed in a gas line explosion. They lived on the second story of the building. The downstairs family unit was unoccupied at the time of the early morning explosion.

Cause of the explosion has been under investigation. It had been reported that the explosion might have been caused by a malfunction in the gas line of the building.

Motoreycle, Tires Reported Stolen

Local police were notified this morning of the theft of a motorecycle from Broadway and of snow tires from an uptown garage.

A report at 4:50 a. m. noted the theft of a motorecycle owned by Thomas Randel, of 330 Linderman Avenue, from Broadway near Pine Grove Avenue. It was a black and white Harley Davidson.

A report at 8:30 a. m. noted the theft of two snow tires mounted on wheels and valued at $60, from the garage on the George Kotrady property, 27 Emerson Street.

Fire in Byrne Car

A car owned by James P. Byrne, of 82 Johnston Avenue, and driven by Charlotte Byrne, of that address, was damaged by fire in a parking lot at Washington Avenue and North Front Street early this afternoon. Firemen listed a carburetor backfire as the probable cause. It damaged the hood, wiring, motor, and battery. A telephone call at 12:27 p. m. was followed by an alarm from Box 1611, Washington Avenue and North Front Street and summoned units from Central and Wiltwyck stations, the Wicks and Excelsior volunteers with Chief James B. Brett and Capt. Harry L. Silks in charge.

Hearing Aug. 19

Robert Cady, 39, formerly of Liberty Street, and more recently of Troy, was arrested today on a bench warrant executed by Detective Gurnsey Burger and Officer James Amato, charging him with failure to appear in local court. He was brought back from Troy this morning and city court hearing was put over to Aug. 19. Police said he was charged last March with indecent exposure and public intoxication.

Transformer Blows

An overloaded Central Hudson Gas & Electric transformer on Northfield Street, Town of Ulster, blew out shortly before 5 p. m. Monday, disrupting service in a small area. Some 15 customers were reported without service. Repair was reported completed at 10:25 p. m. A temporary unit was installed pending completion of repairs.

Bowles Operated For Parkinson's, Returns to Duty

NEW YORK (AP) — Chester Bowles, U.S. ambassador to India, underwent a highly successful operation for Parkinson's disease June 15, it was learned Monday.

Bowles is now back at his post in New Delhi.

The operation, kept secret at Bowles' request, was performed at St. Barnabas Hospital in the Bronx by Drs. Irving S. Cooper and Joseph M. Waltz, neurosurgeons.

The 1½-hour operation utilized the new technique of insert-

Appropriate Nickname

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Pfc. Robert Yamez, a National Guardsman in the riot-torn Negro section, had a nickname ready for his 8-pound son born Monday.

Yamez tagged him "Riot." Yamez, 20, took time off to visit his wife, Rebecca, 19, at the hospital, then returned to duty.

ing a needle into the thalamus, a nerve center in the head, and freezing a small area with liquid nitrogen.

Parkinson's disease is a progressive nerve malady causing increasing rigidity, tremors and gradual loss of body control.

Doctors estimated Bowles had been suffering from it for about 1½ years.

Mandry on Last 15 Miles Of His Solo Atlantic Trip

By THOMAS A. REEDY

FALMOUTH, England (AP)—Robert Manry and his 13½-foot sailboat Tinkerbell were sighted off England's Lizard Point today, marking completion of the Cleveland newsman's historic solo crossing of the Atlantic.

The Lizard—southernmost tip of Cornwall—is the spot where the Atlantic joins the English Channel. It is 15 miles south-southwest of Falmouth, the 48-year-old amateur sailor's destination.

"From now on it should be all downhill sailing for him," said one old Cornish sailor after checking the wind and weather. The Tinkerbell is the smallest boat to cross the Atlantic nonstop. Manry left Falmouth, Mass., June 1 on the 3,200-mile voyage.

The people of Falmouth readied a big welcome.

Manry will be met by immigration officials at the entrance to the outer harbor, and the harbor master will accompany the Tinkerbell in a launch.

The mayor and civic officials will greet the sailboat as she pulls up to the dock. Manry will hold a news conference and be given a formal reception in the hall where this English coastal town welcomed another famed seaman, Capt. Kurt Carlsen of the Flying Enterprise, 13 years ago.

Manry's wife, his son, Douglas, 11, and his daughter, Robin, 13, are to greet him. A trawler took Mrs. Manry out to the Tinkerbell 55 miles off Cornwall Monday for a 10-minute reunion with her husband.

"Well, I just hugged and kissed him," said Mrs. Manry.

"He said to me: 'I'm just going to kiss mother earth when I land. On second thought, I'll kiss you first and mother earth second.'"

"Robert was very fit and well," his wife said. "He is 5 feet 11, and weighed 200 pounds when he left. I thought he had lost quite a bit of weight, which I always wanted him to do, and so I sort of punched him in the belly. Then I realized that he had taken off a lot of it."

Manry told her the tiny boat had lost one rudder and one oar during its long voyage.

Manry, a copy editor for the Cleveland Plain Dealer, spent six years rebuilding his 30-year-old boat. He developed sailing skill on Lake Erie and also became an accomplished carpenter.

GOP Chief Sees Youth on March In Fall Election

HAMILTON, N.Y. (AP)—The Republican state chairman sees a new GOP youth movement in the making in next fall's legislative election.

Chairman Carl Spad, addressing a teenage "school of politics" on the Colgate University campus Monday night, likened the present situation to that of 1935.

That was the last time the GOP lost both houses of the Legislature. They regained control on the impetus of a group of Republican newcomers dubbed the "Young Turks."

"Today, the same process has begun," Spad said.

Asserting that "a new Republican youth movement is on the march," Spad reported that the

Medina Editor Shot, Thought Stray Bullet

MEDINA, N.Y. (AP) — Robert E. Waters, 39, editor of the Medina Daily Journal-Register and son of State Assemblyman Alonzo L. Waters, was shot in the head Monday by what police believed to be a stray rifle bullet.

He was reported in serious condition in Buffalo General Hospital.

The Orleans County sheriff's deputies said Waters was shot as he stood in the back yard of his home on Route 31-E, one half mile west of here.

average age of new GOP candidates for the Assembly this year is 33. Some are in their 20s.

About 250 high-school students and college freshmen are attending the school, which is sponsored by the state Young Republican organization. The five-day session ends Friday.

Disaster in Chile Hope Dwindles For 50 Caught In Andean Slide

MENDOZA, Argentina (AP) — Hopes of finding alive 50 Argentines buried by Andean avalanches dwindled today. On the other side of the mountains, a national disaster was declared in Chile.

Hundreds of rescue workers fought zero degree cold and raging winds high in the Argentine Andes to dig through snow and rocks at Las Cuevas, but all 40 of the persons buried there were feared dead.

Six persons were rescued, seriously injured, after an avalanche crashed down on the town 70 miles west of Mendoza early Monday.

Another 10 Argentines were missing and feared dead in an avalanche that hit nearby Pucón del Inca Sunday. The avalanche killed four other persons, injured nine and wiped out the post office and a resort hotel.

The worst storm in memory still swept the southern Andes after more than a week.

The threat of new disasters hung over the mountain border between Argentina and Chile. Avalanches blocked the waters of the Tupungato and Mendoza rivers, creating artificial lakes that officials feared would burst over a wide area.

In Chile, the week of blizzards, rainstorms and avalanches had taken nearly 100 lives, destroyed 40 per cent of the farmlands and isolated hundreds of towns.

The Chilean navy said 44 sailors died in the wreck of the cutter Januqueo Sunday when it was driven on the rocks and sank in Bahia San Pedro, 546 miles southwest of Santiago.

Twenty-eight men were rescued. It was one of Chile's worst naval disasters.

Trustee Resigns
The board accepted a letter of resignation from Trustee Charles Rice, who advised he was transferred by his employer, International Business Machines Corp., to Boulder, Colo. The resignation is effective Aug. 26.

The board also accepted the resignation of Mrs. Elizabeth Ziegler, widow of the late Mayor William Ziegler, as a member of the Village Planning Board. Mrs. Ziegler advised she had been appointed as clerk of the district for Saugerties Central Schools.

Village Attorney Robert Carnright by letter advised he had contacted Mrs. Mary Amrod regarding the purchase of a tract of land at the rear of the Partition Street parking lot. The asking price is $3,000.

The offer to purchase was made on a request of Ulster Lodge 193, F&AM at the July 29 special meeting of the board.

To Build Temple
The Masonic Lodge reported it proposes to build a Masonic Temple on Russell Street on the Van Gassbeck property and had an option to buy until Sept. 1. The delegation from the lodge asked that the village purchase the Amrod strip to permit extension of the municipal parking lot to the proposed temple site, thus permitting access to the lot from Russell Street. The lodge delegation said, if they decided to build there, the lodge would give the village a right-of-way through the property to Russell Street.

This would permit entrance to the municipal lot from Partition Street and exit into Russell Street, and would provide parking for lodge members attending meetings and functions.

The board authorized the village attorney to confer with Anthony Daniel N. Lamb, representing the lodge to determine if the lodge will definitely purchase the property, and also to check if the entire Amrod tract is required for the project.

Village Clerk Gage read a letter from David J. Goble, president of Saugerties Water Board, in which the water board requested adoption of an ordinance for registration of all swimming pools, driven wells and driven points in the village. The information is required in the event of a water shortage. The board tabled the request for further study.

2 on Sergeant List
Trustee Charles Steele, police commissioner reported a civil service list has been established for police sergeant and Acting Sgt. Gordon Keeley and Patrolman William Johnson passed the test and are listed in that order. The mayor appointed a committee including himself, the police commissioner and Police Chief Harold Mills to study the list of eligible men and consider appointment of one or two sergeants.

Mrs. June Jasienowski, swimming instructor at the municipal bathing beach reported she and her assistants taught the largest class ever with 375 registered and 250 of these were in the beginner's class. She noted 15 were in the life saver class, all 12-years-old. She suggested that a larger float is required and recommended some form of cording be installed on the float to prevent slipping. The mayor said he would appoint a committee of at least three to study the proposals.

Talks Pushed To End Long Ship Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negotiators worked through the night and into the morning today trying to reach an agreement which would end a 63-day maritime strike.

There was no indication of when the session would break up nor was there official word on how the talks were progressing.

The strike has tied up about 100 merchant ships, and President Johnson Monday called for their "speedy resumption of operation."

He directed Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz to report to him by 5 p. m. Wednesday on the possibility of getting the ships sailing again.

Wirtz immediately called representatives of the Marine Engineers Beneficial Union and the American Merchant Marine Institute, spokesman for the eight shipowners involved, to Washington.

The strike involves two other unions, but settlement with MEBA is considered the key to conclusion of contracts with the International Organization of Masters, Mates and Pilots and the American Radio Association.

The President urged that the major issue — manning of automated ships — be set aside and other issues promptly settled.

He suggested that Wirtz and George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, tackle the automation problem later.

Soviets Reject Nuclear Draft

GENEVA (AP) — The United States presented the Western draft of a treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons to the 17-nation disarmament conference today. The Soviet delegate rejected it.

The draft, put forward as a joint Western initiative and placed before the conference by U.S. delegate William C. Foster, was hastily drawn up after the Western Allies failed to reach a sharp split within their ranks over the proposed North Atlantic nuclear force.

Soviet chief delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin told newsmen there is "no possibility" of the Soviet Union signing the treaty if the West goes ahead with its Atlantic nuclear force plan "or anything like it," which would include West Germany.

Tsarapkin said he has asked the United States for "clarification" on this issue.

Two Men Charged With Assault, Hearings Later

A local man was booked on two charges of third degree assault, and one of resisting arrest Monday afternoon and another was charged with assault and resisting arrest early today.

Santiago Delesus, 41, of 111 Green Street, was charged with assault by Rose Harvey, of 96 Clinton Avenue, and Beverly Lane, of 705 Broadway. He was charged with resisting arrest by Officer Joseph Feraca.

The arrest followed a call for police to Franklin Street and Clinton Avenue where an altercation was reported in progress at 2:30 p. m.

Police said two other assault charges dating back to last year against Delesus are pending. City court hearing of all charges was put over to Aug. 20. Bail of $1,500 was not immediately posted.

Jack R. Lewis, of 236 Catherine Street, was booked at 6 a. m. today on a third degree assault charge by his wife, Carcan, and on the resisting arrest charge by Officer George Barringer. The latter with Patrolman Thomas Childs had been dispatched to a Hone Street address following a report of trouble in progress there.

An earlier report to the police indicated trouble between the husband and wife. Bail for Lewis also fixed at $500, was not immediately posted. He is due in court again Aug. 19.

46-Star Flag Will Wave at Grahamsville

The 88th annual Little World's Fair will be held Saturday, Aug. 21, and over it will fly a 46-star flag.

There was some talk of obtaining a new flag with 50 stars but sentiment won out and this year's exposition will fly the time-honored banner.

The fair, like the flag, with time-honored tradition represents the present as well as the past. The outward appearance changes to accommodate the newest in agriculture, while the spirit retains the best of the past.

Sounds Out Sentiments

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Gov. Paul Johnson's amendments to knock out discriminatory voter requirements is before the electorate today in a sounding of state-federal sentiments.

The governor urged passage, along with several other elected officials, to ward off further federal intervention. Segregationists urged defeat, fearing widespread Negro registration.

Two counties now have federal registrars putting Negroes on the books under President Johnson's recent voting rights act.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advance wavered as some weaknesses cropped up early this afternoon.

The market was up from the start, extending the rally into the fifth consecutive session.

Brokers said the market was continuing to be helped by a flow of good business news. Latest report was of a sharp increase in industrial production in July over a month earlier.

Aircrafts and chemicals turned in the best performances. Steels and rails were weak. Motors were mixed.

Some big blocks crossed the ticker tape including 96,700 shares of Aluminum Ltd., 23,300 shares of Royal Dutch and 18,000 shares of Shell Transport.

Zenith, International Nickel and U. S. Smelting gained a point or so.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was unchanged at 331.4 with industrials up .4, rails off .2 and utilities off .3.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was up 2.14 at 833.27.

Among the electronics, RCA and Raytheon gained small fractions.

Union Carbide advanced about half a point and Eastman Kodak, Du Pont and Air Reduction were ahead by lesser fractions.

Commonwealth Edison picked up about half a point and American Telephone was ahead slightly.

Production Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's industrial production rose sharply in July, and the Federal Reserve Board attributed it to a high volume of output of steel, business equipment and automobiles.

It was the ninth straight month for an increase in the output of the country's factories and mines. The board fixed the climb at eight-tenths of one per cent.

In other areas, the board said the manufacture of business equipment increased 4 per cent, construction activity remained high and retail sales increased.

The board said the amount of bank credit declined during the month but the money supply continued to increase.

See New Hitch In Harrisburgh Reapport Plans

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Another hitch today appeared to be delaying introduction of a bill to reapportion Pennsylvania Senate districts on population lines.

Republicans and Democrats, after reportedly being near an agreement last week, separated again Monday over the lines to be drawn in Bucks, Montgomery and Delaware Counties.

The new dispute was to be a prime item of discussion at a meeting today of the Senate Committee on Elections and Reapportionment.

Sources said Democrats want districts in the three predominantly Republican Philadelphia suburban counties redrawn, apparently to give them a better chance.

There also was a report that some Republicans in the three counties would like some changes.

The Senate plan, as it stands so far, would knock off three incumbent Republicans, put two others in one district, and throw a Democrat against a Republican to meet the equal population ratio set down by the U.S. Supreme Court in its "one-man, one-vote" ruling.

House Democrats plan to submit their plan Wednesday.

The State Supreme Court has imposed a Sept. 1 deadline for reapportionment based on the U. S. Supreme Court's decision.

Reapportionment moved into the spotlight as House Democrats passed their bill to restore most of the benefits cut from the assembly member compensation program last year by the Scranton Administration.

The measure now goes to the Republican-controlled Senate where it faces certain death in committee.

Second Area Is Started for Taking Property

Negotiations are started for taking 56 properties in a second acquisition area of downtown's Broadway East urban renewal project area, the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency announced today.

It has taken title to 33 of 54 properties in the first acquisition area and in instances where owners want to sell and are in other areas than the two now involved the agency has listed 52 properties for consideration mainly because of "hardship" conditions.

The 33rd property acquired in the first acquisition area was that at 99 Hasbrouck Avenue owned by the estate of Elizabeth Rhinehart.

The second acquisition area is bounded generally by Broadway on the west, by the New York Central Railroad tracks on the east, St. Mary's Church on the north and Meadow Street on the south.

It will be developed as a residential area and the agency is seeking a developer. A housing project is scheduled for the first area, and it is hoped to get started on that this year.

Title is expected to be taken soon on four remaining city-owned properties in the first acquisition area.

A 6.2-acre tract will be assembled when all properties in the second acquisition area have been acquired. This land will be sold and developed for residential purposes under the approved U.R. plan. The agency has had preliminary discussions with potential developers and this will be continued while the land is being acquired, explained Eric Hemphill, the agency's executive director.

Urges Support Of Drive to Aid Salvation Army

Sherman M. Fairchild, inventor of the Fairchild Aerial Camera and chairman of the executive committee of Fairchild and Associates, and a member of the Salvation Army Advisory Board of New York since 1957, is associated with the local Salvation Army Corps in its fund drive scheduled for September.

Fairchild is Chairman of Special Projects for New York State and states that "the Salvation Army has steadfastly maintained its personal touch — a factor often the difference between success and failure and more often overlooked in this day of complex living and impersonal association. But human nature has not changed and the Salvation Army has not lost sight of its purpose. The Salvation Army demands no formality of commitment and requires no time-consuming red tape, it is ready and available when needed."

Since the local Salvation Army Corps is no longer part of the Community Chest, the local drive for funds for the corps is a necessity. Fairchild emphasized the need for community support of the program of the Salvation Army through the medium of the local drive scheduled for the month of September.

Stevenson last month as chief U.S. delegate.

Goldberg said that, because of majority opinion in the world organization, the United States had abandoned its attempts to enforce the voting penalty in Article 19. He said private polls among diplomats and U.N. officials had shown that a majority was not prepared to enforce the charter provision.

"We will not seek to frustrate that consensus," he said, "since it is not in the world interest to have the work of the General Assembly immobilized in these troubled days."

Questions requested any illustrations of instances "where the cause of justice has been advanced by the inquiry and reporting of a responsible press or, on the other hand, where the rights of defendants in criminal cases have been jeopardized by release of information by law enforcement officials or by the communications media."

Diplomats . . .

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. decision to drop its fight to force Russia, France and other nations to pay their U.N. peacekeeping assessments has stirred some criticism on Capitol Hill.

But several senators have said, in effect, that the decision was the only realistic one. Others indicated that future appropriations for the United Nations may have tougher going in Congress.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower said he was "puzzled and rather dismayed" by the United States' decision not to press the Soviet Union and other delinquent nations to pay their special assessments at the United Nations.

Treatment Saves Boy's Ankle, Foot

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A 10-year-old boy, who was bitten by a poisonous snake and faced amputation of his ankle and foot, was given a good chance today by doctors at Millard Fillmore Hospital of walking again in two months.

"Without special treatment, the ankle and foot would have to be amputated," a physician at the hospital said.

The special treatment consisted of a new hyperbaric oxygenation therapy unit that was being used to treat Richard Loucks Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Loucks of Camoron Mills, a community near Bath.

The new unit enables Richard to obtain three times more oxygen than he would with an oxygen tent. The heavy dosage of oxygen was needed for treatment of the gangrenous tissue around the bite, doctors explained.

TV Reviews, Best Bets

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Television's make-believe, with its back-lot battles and fun-loving fighting men, seemed trivial and downright silly in Los Angeles during the past few terror-filled days and nights.

For drama, the city's television stations had plenty of the real thing. Live shots from a hovering helicopter, for instance, showed looters stripping a smoldering store and strolling off with the stolen property.

Film taken from inside a car in the riot zone caught a tall youth in the act of heaving a rock that smashed the car's windshield.

A camera, panning slowly down a business street, showed smashed store fronts with ravaged showcases, mannequins from a clothing store display tossed in a gutter.

The scenes must have been shocking to any viewer, but to those of us only a short distance away and aware the situation was completely out of control, it was frightening.

When we saw the first units of the National Guard marching grimly down one riot-scattered street with fixed bayonets it was like the end of a long nightmare.

But although the television stations turned in the more spectacular jobs, it was radio to which an alarmed resident could turn at any moment for an up-to-the-minute report when rumors were springing up like mushrooms all over the city.

It is going to be hard to concentrate on the production problems of "The Long Hot Summer," a new entertainment series, while the memory of this long, hot weekend is so vivid. "Combat" was never this real.

Set Medical Meet, Phoenicia Rotary

The Phoenicia Rotary Club is holding a special meeting Thursday, Aug. 26 at 8:30 p. m. concerning the importance of medical care in times of emergency situations.

The meeting will be held at the St. Francis de Sales Church parish hall in Phoenicia, it was announced by Rotary president Joseph Eisenbeil.

Two medical specialists from the Benedictine Hospital will address the audience and discuss emergency measures applied to persons injured in accidents.

WHO SITS WHERE WHEN TABLE'S TOO SMALL?

Q: I am giving a lunch party for a bride-to-be and am a little uncertain as to the correct seating arrangement. There will be 14 in all but my dining table seats 10 at most. So I will have to set up a card table for the other four. Will you please tell me if I should sit at the main table and let my guests sit at the less comfortable card table?

A: As hostess, your place is at the head of the dining table with the bride-to-be at your right. Seat your own family or most intimate friends at the card table.

Son to Give Mother Away

Q: I have been a widow for the past five years and have a 19-year-old son. I am planning to marry again in the very near future. Would it be proper to have my son walk up the aisle with me and give me away?

A: It will be entirely proper to have your son give you away.

Clothes for a Funeral

Q: Will you please tell me if it is necessary, when attending the funeral of a friend, to wear black?

A: It is no longer necessary to wear black when going to a friend's funeral unless you sit with the family, but you should choose clothes that are dark and inconspicuous.

Former Kingston Resident Exchanges Vows With James Alan Frank in Pompano Beach

Lynda J. Julianne Schwartz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Baer Schwartz of Pompano Beach, Fla., exchanged marriage vows with James Alan Frank, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alan S. Frank of Lighthouse Point, Fla., on Saturday, Aug. 14, 1965 at 7:30 p. m. in the First Presbyterian Church of Pompano Beach, Fla.

The Schwartz family resided in Kingston for many years. Officiating clergyman was the Rev. Dr. Wyn Blair Sutherland.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length bridal gown of antique tulle. The gown skirt terminated in a chapel length train. The gown was accented with seed pearls and Alencon lace on English net. A finger-ring French illusion veil was attached to a double crown of pearls and crystals. The bride carried a traditional cascade of feathered carnations, stephanotis and ivy centered with a detachable white orchid.

Serving her sister as maid of honor was Gretchen Schwartz. Other bridesmaids were Miss Julia Frank, sister of the bridegroom; and Miss Sandra Hinton. All were attired in floor length gowns of angel blue silk organza styled with empress puffed sleeves and a-line skirts which terminated in slight sweep trains. Their short circular veils were held by matching horsehair bows. The maid of honor carried light blue carnations with ivy and green velvet ribbon. The bridesmaids carried light blue carnations with ivy in single ball design.

Keeley and Kirby Quillen, cousins of the bridegroom, were flower girls in angel blue silk organza over white peau frocks. They also wore moss green velvet headpieces and carried white baskets of blue and white pom-poms.

Ronald Frank was best man for his brother.

Ushers were William Pemberton DeMilly, Ronald Lambert and Judd Curtis.

A reception was given in Harris Fair East Imperial. Among those attending were Mrs. Abram Molyneux, the bride's grandmother; Miss Melanie Goble; Mr. and Mrs. Warren Simmons and daughter Valri of Hurley; and Miss Stephanie Nekos.

Mrs. Frank is employed by the Florida Atlantic University and her husband is employed by the Boca Raton National Bank.

After a wedding trip to Jamaica, Mr. and Mrs. Frank will be at home in Boca Raton, P.O. Box 602.

MRS. GEORGE W. BOMBASKI JR.

Williams-Bombaski Wedding Is Announced

On Aug. 14, 1965 at 11 o'clock, marriage vows were taken by Janet Kay Williams of Kingston, and George William Bombaski Jr., of Albany, in St. Mary's Church, Albany. The Rev. Lawrence Connaughton was the officiating clergyman during the double ring wedding ceremony and Joseph Madeski of Albany was the organist.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Dwight Williams of 390 Albany Avenue, Kingston, and the late Dwight Williams. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Bombaski Sr., of Endicott.

White gladioli and pompons decorated the altar for the occasion.

Given in marriage by her uncle Frank Hall of Detroit, Mich., the bride wore a white sheath floor length gown accented with seed pearls and appliques. The chapel train was detachable. She carried a cascade of white roses and pompons.

The bride's sister, Carol S. Williams of Kingston, was maid of honor in a powder blue crepe gown styled with detachable train. A flirtation bow held her short veil and she carried dark blue roses with pompons.

Other bridesmaids were Miss Judy Callahan of Albany; Miss Helen Carswell of Herkimer; and Miss Marsha Soper of Kingston. Their gowns were identical to that worn by the honor attendant except in watercolor blue. They also wore flirtation bows with fly-away veils and carried eascade bouquets of light blue roses with pompons. William Carrigg of Endicott, N. Y., was best man for his cousin. Ushering were Robert Pilch of Dover Plains, N. Y.; Jack Cholpecki of Schenectady, N. Y. and John Ryan of Albany. A reception was given at Jack's Oyster House in Albany and the couple left afterwards for New York City.

Mrs. Bombaski is a graduate of Kingston High School and Albany Business College. She is a member of Theta Alpha Chi Sorority. Her husband is an alumnus of Seton High School, Endicott, and Albany Business College. He is comptroller for Jack's Oyster House, Albany.

Mr. and Mrs. Bombaski will be at home at 3 Elk Street, Albany, N. Y.

The fall program of Atonement Lutheran Church will be resumed Sunday, Sept. 12. Two church services, one at 8 a. m., the other at 11 a. m. will be regularly conducted. Sunday school will begin full sessions 9:15 a. m.

All committees and organizations charged with planning programs for the fall are asked to hold planning meetings prior to the first meetings of church council so that all programs will be fully operational or completely planned at the first meeting. The Rev. and Mrs. Cowen returned from their vacation on Aug. 12. They spent two weeks on the ocean front at Fenwick Island, Del., a week with Mrs. Cowen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wolfe of Freeland, Pa., a few days at their son, Richard Cowen, Coopersburg, Pa., and a week with Mr. and Mrs. William A. Robinson, Margo Drive, Fairport, their daughter and son-in-law.

Colleen and Karen Cowen, two of their grandchildren from Coopersburg, Pa., are visiting with them this week.

They participated in singing and dancing and stayed on for the floor show.

Those attending were: Katherine Keller, Pauline Wolff, Mary Nyer, Ethel Meyer, Mary Lou Rowland, Martha Scheer, Mary Gillen, Ella Griffin, Doris Meyer, Mrs. Rowland Sr., Elvina Sangerbush, Susan Lewis, Margaret Marburger and Mildred Lewis.

Dear Abby . . .

Tall And Short Of It!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: You ought to be ashamed of yourself for telling that 15-year-old girl who was already 5 feet, 11 inches tall that she may grow even taller yet!

I'll bet YOU aren't over 5-6. What do YOU know about the problem?

In case you think I'm a towering Amazon, I'm not. I am only 5-4, but my closest friend for nearly 38 years was almost a six-footer by the time she was 16, and I can still remember the tears she shed in high school.

Now, get on that typewriter, Abby, and tell that girl that endocrinologists are coming into its own, and maybe they can help her arrest her growth before it gets worse. Hastily yours, MRS. C.

DEAR MRS. C.: To give false hope is even more cruel than giving none. While it's entirely conceivable that endocrinologists will one day make it possible for us to control height, I doubt if it will come soon enough to help my 15-year-old, 5-11 writer.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell that 15-year-old girl who calls herself "FREAK" because she's 5 feet, 11 inches tall not to feel sorry for herself. I am also a girl who is 5-11 and I have been this way since I was 14. I am now 17 and I never had any trouble getting dates. The guys are getting taller every year. It has some drawbacks, like not finding many youthful styles in dresses. And size 10 shoes aren't easy to come by in the better-looking shoes, either, but I manage.

I find that people think more of me if I stand straight with my shoulder back and don't act ashamed of my height. Being taller than most people is a handicap only if you let it be. I don't. Sign this . . .

be in effect. It was decided not to inaugurate a "woman's exchange."

According to the report of the chairman, Mrs. Helen Gardner, 29 pints of blood were drawn at the recent session. There were five refusals. Mrs. Gardner also stated that two trips to Kingston were made in order to supply the bank with a special rare type needed.

The film on communism has been postponed until Nov. 11, Veteran's Day, due to the great demand for the film. Co-sponsored by the Young Americans for Freedom, the hour and 15 minute film narrated by Ronald Reagan, will be shown at 8:30 in the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall, Livingston Street. The public is cordially invited. There will be no admission charge.

The 1965-1966 dues will be payable starting in October. Early bird members are giving advance monies to Mrs. Peggy Wade.

A birthday party was held for all members following the meeting. The Auxiliary re-convenes on Wednesday, Sept. 8.

Arthur DeCelle Marks 8th Birthday at Party

A "pirate" birthday party on Sunday, Aug. 15, celebrated the eighth birthday of Arthur DeCelle of Market Street.

A treasure hunt, sword fight, and pin the flag on the pirate ship was enjoyed by Peter and Jack Wilsey, Mark Parenti, Kevin Bannan, Robert Gillespy, and Arthur's brother, Charles and sisters Isabel and Margaret. A pizza supper and pirate cake climaxed the day.

VFW Bus Will Tour Historic Valley Area

A bus ride through the historic Hudson Valley, open to the public is slated Saturday, Aug. 28, stopping at the winery in Washingtonville, George Washington's camp at Temple Hill, Roosevelt's Home and Museum in Hyde Park.

Sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary to Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, Veterans of Foreign Wars, all profits will be used in its hospital and relief work. An immediate reservation can be had by contacting Mrs. Eileen Hommel, Miss Hannah Lewis, or Mrs. Dorothy Wood.

The Auxiliary is hoping to make this trip a successful one in order to schedule future historic trips to other points of interest in the fall.

WSCS Rummage Sale Slated Sept. 17-18

The WSCS of Saugerties Methodist Church is sponsoring a rummage sale on September 17 and 18 at the Savings and Loan Building, Main Street, Saugerties. Co-Chairmen of the event have been appointed by the president of the society, Mrs. John Whriter. They are Mrs. Robert Emery and Mrs. Ernest Breitung.

All area residents are asked to keep the sale in mind, as many articles of clothing and jewelry will be available.

Conveyed by Ambulance Saugerties Ambulance Service conveyed the injured in two

DEAR ABBY: My problem is boys. Two boys like me. I am going steady with one, but I like the other one better. I can't break up with my steady because he doesn't have any backbone. He cries every time I try to break up with him. I have tried several times, but I always go back out of pity? I can't stand to see him hurt. What should I do?

I know a person shouldn't go steady with somebody because they feel sorry for him. I need an answer, quick.

BOY'S GIRL. DEAR GIRL: Tell your steady in as kindly a way as possible that you don't want to go steady with him any more. If he cries, let him cry. He'll live. Girls who go with boys because they "feel sorry" for them usually end up feeling a lot sorer for themselves.

DEAR ABBY: Is it possible for a couple to be married twice? My husband and I have been married nearly two years. He was going into the service at the time and I had to finish high school, so we got married by a Justice of the Peace and kept it a secret. Our parents still don't know we are married. They think that we are waiting to be married as soon as he gets out of the service. Is it possible to have a church wedding and keep our first marriage a secret?

SECRETLY WED. DEAR WED: Yes, But confide these facts to your clergyman when you make plans for your church wedding.

Problems? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., for Abby's booklet, "HOW TO WRITE LETTERS FOR ALL OCCASIONS."

Downtown Store Moving Location

The Ellen Shop, formerly in the downtown area for 15 years, is removing to 366 Broadway, near Kingston Hospital.

This was announced today by David Murray Perlman a resident of Kingston 25 years, who manages the shop.

He said the store will feature brand-name items for women and baby gift items.

Humphreys See Show

NEW YORK (AP)—Vice President and Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey flew in from Chicago and saw a Broadway show Monday night.

The Humphreys and their daughter and son-in-law, Nancy and Bruce Solomanson, had fifth-row seats on the center aisle to see "Funny Girl," the hit musical at the Winter Garden.

Local Man Named To Paint Company Advisory Council

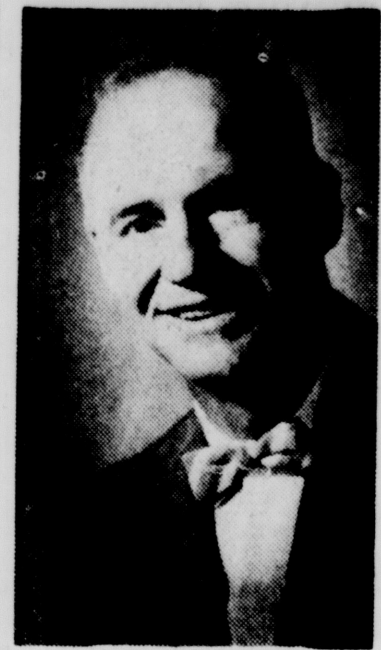

A prominent local paint dealer has been named to a ten-man board of directors of the Mary Carter Paint Company.

John Walker of the Sawkill Road in the Town of Ulster will serve on the Franchise Advisory Council of the Mary Carter Paint firm which operates one thousand paint stores across the country.

Walker will leave for Tampa, Florida along with other key management members on August 22 to form dealer plans for the coming year.

In his new post with the Mary Carter chain, Walker will represent dealers in New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Vermont, Maine, Rhode Island and Pennsylvania.

In announcing Walker's appointment, I. G. Davis Jr., president of Mary Carter Paints, said John Walker has "shown himself to be an outstanding success in developing the type of operation which most fully expresses the intention and desires of Mary Carter Paint Company, in establishing a most powerful dealer organization in the paint industry."

Walker operates eight Mary Carter stores in the northeast. Davis concluded by stating that Walker's selection on the Franchise Advisory Council takes into account the high standards of his personal integrity and co-operative nature as well as his qualities as a businessman.

In accepting the post Walker said he was deeply honored and would work to improve relations in the management-dealer are to continue the growth and success of Mary Carter Paints.

John Walker is a member of the consistory of the Fair Street Reformed Church in Kingston, is an active member of the Kingston Kiwanis Club and serves as Committeeman for the 1st district of the Town of Ulster.

He resides with his wife, Doris, their three daughters, Cheryl, Debra and Stacy and their son John Jr., on the Sawkill Road in the Town of Ulster.

War on Pinballs

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Gov. Edward T. Breathitt has asked clerimony to support his war on illegal pinball gambling.

Breathitt called the pinball business, "the treasure chest of organized crime." He told a television audience the ministers should support local officials in upholding the law and help educate the public on the evils of pinball gambling.

Boosting World Bank

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has signed a bill to pave the way for an increase in the capital stock of the World Bank. The increase would have to be approved by other nations participating in the bank and would not raise the present subscription of the United States.

Benjamin L. Webster of Woodstock has been elected a director of Mid Hudson Pattern for Progress, Inc., a private non-profit organization dedicated to planning the future growth of this seven-county region.

Mr. Webster is chairman of the Woodstock Planning Board, a member of the executive board of the Ulster County Planning Board and chairman of its public information committee, and a founder and director of the Woodstock Association for the Conservation and Improvement of the Township.

He is also a member of the Industrial Designers Society of America, of which he has been a director, and a charter member of the Society of Professional Management Consultants.

Clintondale

CLINTONDALE—Friday and Saturday nights are the dates for the annual bazaar of the Clintondale Fire Department to be held on the recreation field in back of the firehouse. Booths have been installed along a lighted midway where refreshments, soda, ice cream, novelties and other items will be offered for sale. There will also be booths for amusement. On Saturday night as soon as it is dark there will be a display of aerial fireworks at the field.

The fifth annual New England Invitational races were held Sunday at the Clintondale Kart-wheelers Raceway and attracted Karters from all the New England states. The half mile paved track is on what was known as the Jacob Eckert property on Route 55.

Miss Laura Bernard, Crescent Avenue, is one of the teachers in the School for Disadvantaged Children conducted this summer at the Highland Elementary School. Most of the 45 children enrolled are of migrant families here for the fruit harvest. Miss Bernard is a member of the Highland faculty.

Howard S. Ronk, 69, of Goshen, died Aug. 4 at the Castle Point Veterans Hospital after a short illness. He spent his younger life in Ardonia, being the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ronk. He was the brother of Myron D. Ronk of Crescent Avenue.

Clintondale Grange met Monday night for a regular meeting with Fred Eckert, Master of the local unit presiding.

The fifth annual family picnic and barbecue of the Town of Plattekill Republican Club was held Sunday at the Klein farm on the Tuckers Corners-Plattekill Road. Over 400 attended and enjoyed boating, swimming and other games during the afternoon. At 3 o'clock a chicken barbecue was served. Men of the club supervised the cooking.

The New York State Highway Department has eliminated the bad curve in Route 55-44 about a quarter of a mile west of the Village.

Joseph Trainor Jr. spent last week at Lake George.

The regular meeting of the Ulster County Volunteer Fire Police Association was held at the Clintondale Civic Center Wednesday night with the Highland Fire Department as hosts. Kenneth Ronk, chief of the local squad of fire police and his men attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Powers and son Tom of Maple Avenue have returned from a two weeks camping trip spent at Virginia Beach, Va.

Mrs. Charles Thorn will be the assisting hostess for the meeting of the Past Noble Grands Club Monday, August 23 at the home of Mrs. Myra Ball, Pancake Hollow Road.

Mrs. F. Coy and son Chester are spending this week visiting friends in Alabama.

Frank Berean, Tuckers Corners Road, left Sunday for Ithaca where he will attend a school for justices of the peace being conducted at Cornell University. Mr. Berean was recently appointed a justice of the peace for the Town of Plattekill to succeed the late Vincent Porcelli. Attendance at these schools are now required for a justice who had no legal training.

There will be joint services for the congregations of the Clintondale Methodist and Friends Churches at the Friends Meeting House at 10 o'clock Sunday morning with the Rev. Gerald Sutch of the Friends Church delivering the sermon. Both churches has suspended Sunday school until after Labor Day.

Nobody Surprised

U.S. Backs Down to Avoid Crisis With Russia in U.N.

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — One crisis at a time. The Johnson administration, busy with war in Viet Nam, wanted no crisis with the Soviet Union in the United Nations. So it backed down, to nobody's surprise.

It had moved toward this position for months. The dispute over the Soviet Union's back dues had the U.N. General Assembly in knots. One U.S. official explained: the world situation is too dangerous to have an inactive assembly.

The decision, of course, was made by President Johnson. It was publicly stated Monday by Arthur J. Goldberg, new U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, in his maiden speech to the world organization.

This was one year to the day after the Communist world warned that the Soviet Union and its allies would walk out of the United Nations if they lost their votes in the General Assembly for being behind on peacekeeping assessments.

This was after the United States had sternly demanded the Soviet Union pay up. If the Communists had walked out, the United Nations would have been left a shell. The United States never forced the issue to a showdown.

No Guide to Future

Since Goldberg's statement as the American representative was cut and dried, prepared in advance, it gave no insight into how he will operate as the late Adlai E. Stevenson's successor.

Johnson faces criticism from some Republicans, but not all, and it started quickly. "It's a sad day for the United Nations," was the instant reaction of Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, senior Republican on the Senate's Foreign Relations Committee.

But another influential Republican member of it, Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont, told the Senate the United States had taken the only practical course left open. Any storm over it will probably subside quickly.

That this crisis could be avoided this easily is a good example of Johnson's luck in foreign affairs since he took office in November 1963. He has had few serious foreign troubles since.

When he did, as happened at the time he sent troops into the middle of the Dominican Republic's revolution just as the Vietnamese war was getting more critical, he got it quieted down as fast as he could.

It was also perhaps lucky for him that Soviet Premier Khrushchev, a constant goad to previous presidents, was removed last October by the Soviet leaders and replaced by quieter men.

Russia Main Target

The Soviet Union, France, Belgium, Yemen, South Africa and eight Communist countries owed $108 million to the United Nations as their share of the cost of keeping the peace in the Middle East and the Congo.

But the United States made its target the Soviet Union, which owed $62.2 million.

Both the Soviet Union and France argued the decision on the peacekeeping was made illegally, that it was done by the General Assembly but should have been done by the Security Council.

Article 19 of the U.N. Charter says a nation more than two years behind on its assessments loses its voting rights. The Soviet Union, France and the others were more than two years behind.

Deadlocked a Year

The 114-nation assembly had been deadlocked a year over the question of whether the Soviet Union should lose its voting

Republicans Are Warned Against Disunity by Spad

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Republican State Chairman Carl Spad warned local GOP leaders today that the party could not afford the luxury of disunity as it approaches the important legislative and local election campaigns this fall.

In his prepared remarks for the first in a series of shirt-sleeve conferences with party leaders across the state, Spad outlined the major campaign issues for county chairman and other GOP officials and candidates from Western New York.

Following today's meeting Spad will move on to Peru for meetings tonight with leaders of 10 other counties from Rochester down to the Southern Tier.

A meeting will be held in Oneida Wednesday for Central New York counties. Three similar meetings will be held in the Eastern portion next week.

Participating in the first conference today were chairmen and representatives from Allegany, Cattaraugus, Chautauque, Erie, Genesee, Niagara, Orleans and Wyoming Counties.

right, The United States had pushed about as far as it thought safe to go without risking a U.N. crackup.

Perhaps some of the American indignation was window-dressing, Goldberg said Monday this country had found that a "consensus" of the U.N. members wanted the organization to get on with its work.

But this couldn't have been a recent discovery. Last January the U.N. president, Alex Quaison-Sackey of Ghana, had said just that. So Goldberg was really saying the United States finally decided to make the best of a bad situation.

Earlier, when the Red Chinese satellite, Albania, tried to force an American-Russian showdown, both those giants joined forces to stop it.

Defense Pact Made to Guard North Territory

(Eds note: Twenty-five years ago Clyde Blackburn, then Ottawa bureau chief of the Canadian Press, covered the meeting of Ogdensburg, N.Y., where Prime Minister King and President Roosevelt signed the Ogdensburg Agreement. Blackburn, who retired in 1959, recalls the conference in this story.)

By CLYDE BLACKBURN

OTTAWA (AP) — On a hot Saturday morning 25 years ago, Ottawa press gallery correspondents were advised to get down to Ogdensburg, N.Y., as soon as possible to cover a meeting between MacKenzie King and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

It was Aug. 17, 1940, and many of the reporters were still abed on what was to have been a quiet day. But with Canada at war they were prepared for assignments on short notice.

In the next 36 hours a chatty meeting on a private train in the Ogdensburg yards between the Canadian prime minister and the U.S. President concluded with the proclamation on

Aug. 18, 1940, of what came to be known as "The Ogdensburg Declaration."

This was a simple, brief joint communiqué stating the two leaders had agreed to set up a permanent joint board of defense to concern itself in an advisory capacity with defense of the northern half of the western hemisphere.

The board was immediately set up and convened. It played an important part through the second world war and post-war period and continues to function to this day.

The first U.S. Chairman of the Board was Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia of New York and the first Canadian Chairman Col. Oliver Mowat Biggar, a prominent Ottawa lawyer.

Farming Prof Dies

STANFORD, Calif. (AP)—Dr. Vladimir P. Timoshenko, a world authority on agriculture and a professor emeritus at Stanford University, died here Sunday. He was 80.

Timoshenko came to Stanford in 1936 after receiving his doctorate from Cornell University. He retired in 1950.

Also, right now the dollar has some home work to do. It must help keep the domestic economy growing by being available in sufficient quantity and by being above reproach. At the same time the dollar must help provide the sinews for a larger war in Viet Nam.

Why has Washington suddenly changed its previous stand that the international monetary system is working all right, and now proposes that world financiers study plans for finding new, or supplementary, mediums of international exchange?

The answer may be that the United States is wearying of being banker to the world if that increasingly means defending the dollar from speculative attacks. These take the form of drains on U.S. gold reserves and of rumors from time to time that the dollar may eventually have to be devalued.

Home Work, Too

Also, right now the dollar has some home work to do. It must help keep the domestic economy growing by being available in sufficient quantity and by being above reproach. At the same time the dollar must help provide the sinews for a larger war in Viet Nam.

World's Money Supply

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The American dollar is suddenly getting wide publicity as an international problem child.

For 20 years it's been sought after by other nations and regarded as good as gold. And it has been doing double duty. First, at home it takes care of the currency and credit needs of business and individuals alike. And second, a surplus of dollars in foreign hands has been the medium for settling accounts among other nations.

Still Doing the Job

It's still doing a job, so why is the dollar's function of keeping the wheels of industry and trade rolling at home and abroad being increasingly questioned?

The answer is that other nations are worried because the United States has switched this year from sending overseas a steady stream of dollars which has financed world trade since World War II, instead, it is pushing an effective drive to bring dollars back home.

This international stream of money called "liquidity" may be drying up.

Why has Washington suddenly changed its previous stand that the international monetary system is working all right, and now proposes that world financiers study plans for finding new, or supplementary, mediums of international exchange?

The answer may be that the United States is wearying of being banker to the world if that increasingly means defending the dollar from speculative attacks. These take the form of drains on U.S. gold reserves and of rumors from time to time that the dollar may eventually have to be devalued.

Home Work, Too

Also, right now the dollar has some home work to do. It must help keep the domestic economy growing by being available in sufficient quantity and by being above reproach. At the same time the dollar must help provide the sinews for a larger war in Viet Nam.

The world still has huge stores of dollars to use in international trade. An adequate international money supply can't be spoken of in the past tense yet.

Each year since 1957 the United States has been sending from $2 billion to $4 billion more abroad than it has been getting back. Some of this surplus found its way into official reserves of governments and their central banks. Huge amounts are held by foreign commercial banks and private corporations.

Outflow Causes Trouble

But the steady outflow of dollars finally got Uncle Sam into trouble. In the fall of 1960 skittish holders of surplus dollars started turning them in for gold and its price rose from the official $35 an ounce to $40 on the European free markets. Talk of an inevitable devaluation of the dollar was growing fast.

Washington tried various means of curbing this outflow of dollars and encouraging a greater return flow. But the deficits continued. So big was the gap in the opening weeks of this year that President Johnson curbed loans to foreigners and U.S. corporations to cut back their dollar investments for expansion abroad.

With Uncle Sam tightening his monetary belt, the move to find some other type of international money supply, talked of for a year or two, is now taking on more urgency.

NEXT: How will the monetary powers attack the problem?

Great-Grandmother Chases Purse Thief

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — A 76-year-old great-grandmother chased a young thief for five blocks after he had snatched her purse as she was boarding a bus.

"If I were 20 years younger, he wouldn't have gotten away with it," said Willie A. Carman. Mrs. Carman said she shouted at several passers-by for aid as she sprinted after the thief Sunday "but no one helped me."

and the purse watcher got away with $4, a pair of eyeglasses and her diabetic medicine.

KPA Wins BRL Game

Gregg Kessman pitched no-hit ball for 6½ innings to pace Kingston Patrolman's Association to an 11-1 Babe Ruth League victory over The 35 Club at the Athletic Field.

Seventh inning singles by Mike Milano and Arnie Shien-vold ruined Kessman's bid for a no-hitter. He struck out 15 and didn't walk a batter. An unearned run in the second was all the 35 Club scoring.

Dana Clearwater slammed a triple and single and Tim Bowen had a single-double combination for the KPA, who rapped it up with a six-run rally off Shien-vold in the third. The latter gave up 11 hits and fanned 10.

Harold Anderson slugged two singles for the winners.

Dog Show Finals Set Wednesday

Ulster County finals of the Ken-L-Ration Kids Dog Show is scheduled Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. on the macadam tennis courts in Forsyth Park, while the Ulster County Fair is in session.

All dogs finishing first, second or third in city park shows and other shows throughout the county are eligible for Wednesday's final. The company will offer excellent prizes to the winners in the seven different classifications.

Owner of the dog adjudged Best in Show will receive a bicycle and large trophy.

Judging will be in the following seven classes: 1) best costumed dog; 2) dog with longest tail; 3) dog with shortest tail; 4) largest dog; 5) smallest dog; 6) best trick dog; 7) best cared for dog.

The show is sponsored by the Recreation Department and will be handled by Charlie Schwarz and Joseph McGuire of the Ken-L-Ration Co.

All children who own dogs eligible for the finals are requested to report at Forsyth Park by 1 p. m. Wednesday for pre-show briefing.

Wilt Rejects Boxing Career

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Wilt Chamberlain doesn't want to fight, and he's not going to switch.

The 7-foot-plus superstar of the Philadelphia 76ers said Monday he's going to stay in pro basketball, rejecting a career as a heavyweight fighter.

"There wasn't any one reason why I decided not to pursue boxing," Chamberlain said. "I talked to many friends, then evaluated the situation, considered everyone involved and made my decision."

Chamberlain had threatened to leave the 76ers of the National Basketball Association and launch a campaign to gain a shot at the heavyweight boxing title.

He had been offered a boxing contract by Gus D'Amato, former manager of ex-heavyweight champ Floyd Patterson. D'Amato had said Wilt could earn a million dollars within three years. It is estimated Chamberlain gets about $50,000 from the 76ers.

"Three groups made me fabulous offers," Chamberlain said. "I still feel I could have made a good fighter. I am fast enough, agile enough and strong enough. The only thing I really don't know is whether or not I could take a punch."

Nicklaus $1730 From New Record

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP)—Big Jack Nicklaus needs only $1,730 to match Arnold Palmer's 1963 money-winning record in official Professional Golfers' Association tournaments.

Nicklaus, who banked $12,500 for his second-place finish in the PGA Championship Sunday, increased his official earnings to $126,500. The Masters champion captured four tournaments and placed in the first five 14 times this year to boost his overall earnings to $137,688.

Billy Casper, who also placed second Sunday, trails Nicklaus with $73,408 in tournament earnings. His total is $98,700.

Mrs. Newell Captures Wiltwyck C.C. Title

Mrs. Prescott Newell has won her first Wiltwyck Country Club women's championship with a 4 and 3 victory over Mrs. Sidney Pauker in the 18-hole finals.

Mrs. Newell won four straight holes, seven through 10, to set the stage for the climax on the 15th hole.

Mrs. Pauker, the 1965 Woodstock Women's Invitational champion and perhaps the most improved player of the season at Wiltwyck, held Mrs. Newell even through the first six holes. She canned a 22-foot birdie putt for a par-4 on the first hole to go 1 up.

The match was squared on the fourth hole. On the sixth, both players had beautiful chip shots. Mrs. Pauker 18 inches away and Mrs. Newell, two feet away.

Molly Hanover Wins in 2:07.1

MONTICELLO—One of the better miles of the meeting by a two-year-old pacing filly was authored last night at Monticello Raceway when Molly Hanover won the featured fourth race in 2:07.1. A fashionably-bred daughter of Tarr Heel-Medios, Molly broke her maiden in taking the $2,000 all filly event.

George Gilmour, who is back winning with consistency after a brief slump, was in the sulky behind the pet miss in reining her to a decisive two-length victory. It was her first win in 11 starts.

Molly Hanover returned a nifty $27.00, $8.00 and $3.20 across the board for her initial triumph. She also has a pair of seconds and thirds in her ten previous starts.

Last night's 6 and 2 daily double paid $9.80 when the favored duo of Taft Dares and Charming Gail won the first two races. Bobby Frame, another reinsman high in the percentage standings, registered with Taft Dares in the first while George Molnar teamed Charming Gail in the second.

Last night's twin double at the Monticello paid $128.20. Winning combination was 3-2-6-5. Last night's perfecta returned $87.60. Winning combination was 2-3.

A crowd of 5,732 was on hand to wager $321,133.

ExCornell Captain Dies in Rochester

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Raymond D. Starbuck, captain of Cornell's football team at the turn of the century and coach of the Big Red in 1901, died Monday in Strong Memorial Hospital. He was 87.

Starbuck joined the New York Central Railroad after serving as Cornell football coach. At the time of his retirement in 1949 he was a director and an executive vice president.

Mrs. Charlton Reaches Semis

Mrs. Kenneth Charlton, the defending champion, has advanced to the semi-final round of the Woodstock Country Club's women's Championship Flight.

Joining Mrs. Charlton in the round-of-four are Mrs. George Rusk, Mrs. Harry Kennedy and Mrs. Thomas H. Dendy.

Mrs. Charlton plays Mrs. Rusk and Mrs. Kennedy takes in Mrs. Dendy.

First and second round results: (First Round)

Mrs. Charlton defeated Mrs. John Sullivan, 3 and 2; Mrs. Homer Barnard over Mrs. David Fogel, 1 up; Mrs. Rusk over Mrs. Kermit Schwarz, 8 and 6; Mrs. Sylvan Goldmuntz, bye.

Mrs. Kennedy over Mrs. Walter Van Wageningen, 8 and 7; Mrs. Joseph Fitzsimmons over Mrs. Arnold Broggi, 4 and 3; Mrs. Alex Sharpe, Jr. over Mrs. Floyd A. DeWitt, 4 and 3; Mrs. Thomas H. Dendy, bye.

(Second Round)

Mrs. Charlton over Mrs. Barnard, 3 and 2; Mrs. Rusk over Mrs. Goldmuntz, 3 and 2; Mrs. Kennedy over Mrs. Fitzsimmons, 4 and 3; Mrs. Dendy over Mrs. Sharpe, 4 and 3.

Miami Football Franchise in AFL Danny's Project

MIAMI (AP)—Comedian Danny Thomas, who plans to bring major league professional football to Miami, explained his $7.5 million investment with the American Football League this way:

"You can't show me any Lebanese boy raised in Toledo, Ohio, who didn't want to own a Miami ball club."

AFL Commissioner Joe Foss announced Monday that the league had granted a group headed by Thomas a five-year franchise for a ninth league team to be based in Miami.

The team, thus far without a name, will play seven scheduled games in Miami's Orange Bowl beginning in 1966. Thomas has an option to renew for another five years.

Present AFL members are New York, Buffalo, Boston, Kansas City, Houston, San Diego, Denver and Oakland.

Thomas and Joseph Robbie, Minneapolis attorney, helped put the deal together and outbid other groups for the franchise, as owners but it was agreed they can take in other stockholders later.

Thomas, who flew here from Hollywood for a press conference Monday night, said his part in promoting the infant ball club would depend on his television filming schedule.

He said his organization had been concentrating so hard on winning the franchise that there had been no time to plan details of the operation.

Foss said the player limit of 36 for AFL teams will be raised to 38 this season to give the incumbents a cushion when the Miami team is put together. Each of the present teams will protect 25 players on its roster.

Miami then can select two from the remaining roster, then one more player will be frozen and Miami will select two more from each squad.

With 32 players then on its roster, Miami will get the AFL's two top college draft picks and first choice in each following round.

ENYGA Tourney At Wiltwyck CC

The annual Eastern New York Golf Association tournament will be held Wednesday at Wiltwyck Country Club.

The Class A field will compete at the local club. More than 100 golfers are expected along with local stars Leon Randall and Harvey Bostic.

Pope in Fine Health

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI is reported to be in fine health, Vatican sources say. As the pontiff was rounding out a month at his summer residence in the Alban Hills, the sources said Monday night that the country air, an easier pace and the reduction in audiences account for the rested look the Pope has had recently.

Contract Expires, 3 Plants Picketed

HARRISON, N.J. (AP) — Picket lines formed today outside three Worthington Company plants where workers went on strike Monday after their union contract with the company expired.

The company's pump and heat transfer division here suspended operations Monday when 1,070 of its 2,000 employees walked off their jobs.

The lines also were up at the air conditioning division in East Orange and the Gamon-Calmet meter division in Newark. A total of 490 employees are on strike at the two plants.

The striking employees are members of Local 1833, United Steel Workers Union. The strike also affected Worthington plants in New York, Alabama and Pennsylvania. These divisions also include members of the International Association of Machinists and Office Employees International Union.

More than 500 members of the International Association of Machinists in the company's turbine division, Wellsville, N.Y., also are on strike. It employs 800.

In Buffalo, N.Y., 1,500 members of USW and Office Employees International Union declared a strike against the company's compressor and engine division. It employs 2,000. Emil Steck, business representative for Local 212 of the Office Employees Union in Buffalo, said that office employees had been negotiating alongside the steelworkers and machinists in New York, and walked out when their contract also expired.

The company, which makes various steel products, operates 18 plants in the United States and 22 plants in 14 foreign countries, and employs 19,000 persons.

Training Authorized

An expenditure of $5,000 for the new cadet training program was authorized and read into the 1964-65 budget by the Poughkeepsie Common Council Monday night. The expenditure will be broken into $4,700 for cadet salaries and $300 for uniform allowances. Poughkeepsie City Manager Theodore Maurer said today he expects the first cadet trainee under the new program will be appointed "either today or tomorrow."

Would Aid Jobless Hit by Automation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal assistance for older workers idled by automation was suggested today by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y.

He introduced a bill to provide continued unemployment insurance for persons between 60 and 65 years of age who are unemployed due to automation or technological change or because they live in an area of substantial unemployment where their skills are no longer needed.

TREES

I think that I shall never see
A hazard rougher than a tree--
A tree o'er which my ball must fly
If one the green it is to lie;
A tree which stands that green to guard,
And makes the shot extremely hard.
A tree whose leafy arms extend
To kill the mashie shot I send;
A tree that stands in silence there
While angry golfers rave and swear.
Niblicks were made for fools like me,
Who cannot even miss a tree.
-- Anonymous.
(After Kilmer)

The judge who was about to deliver a severe sentence looked at the defendant in the dock and began:

Judge--This robbery was consummated in an adroit and skillful manner.

The prisoner blushed and interrupted:

Prisoner--Come now, your honor. No flattery, please.

Banyo, Merchants Meet With State On Signal Light

Further efforts to improve traffic conditions on Route 28 near the Thruway traffic circle were in evidence today.

Supervisor Alexander J. Banyo of the Town of Ulster said that he and representatives of commercial business establishments in that immediate area, met Monday night with representatives of the State Public Works Department to inquire into the possibility of constructing a signal light at what is regarded as a critical spot in the traffic link west of the circle.

Attending the session were Irving Brower, manager of Big Scot department store; LeRoy Griggs, of Parsons Ford of City of Kingston; and representatives from both Howard Johnson's restaurant and motel operations.

Banyo said the problem had no connection with the long-awaited traffic lights soon to be installed around the traffic circle, scene of the controversial "black hole." After lengthy negotiations with the State DPW, the latter agreed to install lights at the previously unlighted circle and the Town of Ulster and Ulster County Board of Supervisors agreed to share subsequent maintenance costs.

Banyo said that the current problem was primarily one of egress for traffic doing business at the four immediate business places. He said that it was expected that the state would make a survey of the area and submit its recommendations to the State Traffic Commission for determination. There was no indication as to approximately how long that would take.

Snobbery in Art Is Panel Topic

A lively panel discussion, "Is Snobbery Undermining the Arts," will take place Friday, Aug. 20, at the Woodstock Art Gallery with five experts in the creative field voicing their opinions in the light of their experiences.

Loker Raley, editor of Bluestone, the literary quarterly of Woodstock, will moderate. The panel consists of Robert Paton, poet; Brock Brokenshaw, artist; Gerd Stern, vice chairman of the executive board of Woodstock Artists Association; Ruth Arnold, librarian from Jersey City, and Robert Jacobson, sculptor.

Following the summation, selections from the up-coming issue of Bluestone will be read by the authors. Fred Green will read his prose selection, "Old Woman and Crow"; Jean Nield will read "The Small Seaweed" and Charles Bremphol, Randy and Maud, Editor Raley and J. Cummins will read their poetry.

This program is one of a series given every two weeks during the summer as part of the cultural activities of the Woodstock Artists Association.

The American Legion Post of Woodstock will hold a chicken barbecue on the premises Saturday, Aug. 31, from 4 to 7 p. m.

Unique Opening Slated Saturday At Local Gallery

An unusual opening is planned by the Maverick Gallery for Robert Dacey's one-man show. The party to be held on Saturday night, Aug. 21, from 9 p. m. to midnight will feature dancing by stroboscopic light. The gallery, located on Chestnut Hill Road in Woodstock, may be reached by turning off Route 212 just past the golf course.

Robert Dacey's immense, intensely colored, burned collage paintings with their hallucinated personages and landscapes have become well-known in Woodstock during the last three years. This show will include fifteen works, six of them large canvases to be shown for the first time.

Before coming to Woodstock Robert Dacey worked and exhibited both in New York and on the West Coast. His work is in a number of important private collections, including that of the Swedish Ambassador to the United Nations. He is a member of the executive board of the Woodstock Artists Association.

According to the gallery's director, poet Gerd Stern, "Dacey's flamboyantly introspective labyrinth with the burned traces of Ariadne's thread looping the archetypal loop about the beat bodhisattvas of the electric century are psychic geographies celebrating the funk and swing of herenow in the paradise regained of art."

Turk In Italy Is Next Opera

"The Turk in Italy, Rossini's comic opera, will be performed on Aug. 20, 21, 23 and 24 as the Turnau Opera Players move into the last two weeks of a successful season at the Byrdcliffe Theatre.

Carol Toscano, whose portrayal of Gilda in Rigoletto thrilled audiences last year, will sing. A coloratura soprano, Miss Toscano was born in Philadelphia, the daughter of professional musicians. She studied piano and harp at an early age and later took up singing. She studied with William Pierce Herman and Sergius Kagen and has coached intensively with Maestro Trucio of the Metropolitan Opera and Maestro Guth of the San Francisco Opera Association.

Miss Toscano's awards include the Marian Anderson Scholarship, the American Opera Auditions, the Martha Baird Rockefeller grant and the Metropolitan Opera Auditions. She has just returned from a season with the Santa Fe Opera. Alan Baker, Don Yules, Richard Anderson and David Dodds, whose performances have pleased audiences this season, are among the cast. The opera will be directed by Adelaide Bishop, with sets and costumes by Jeanne Doyle, and lighting by Patricia Collins. The plot of Rossini's opera

Koch Supporting, But Won't Run On Ryan Ticket

NEW YORK (AP) — Edward I. Koch, Democratic district leader who is fighting Carmine G. DeSapio's third political comeback attempt, has announced he will not run with Rep. William F. Ryan who is seeking the Democratic mayoral nomination.

Eyes DeSapio Race

Koch, party leader in the 69th Assembly District South, said Monday his name will appear in a separate column on the voting machines in the Sept. 14 primary rather than under the name of Ryan or that of any of the other three major candidates for the mayoral nomination.

Koch, who has been allied with Ryan for many years in the Democratic reform movement, said he is supporting Ryan for mayor. But he said he does not believe he could beat DeSapio for the district leadership if he was on Ryan's slate.

DeSapio lost the district leadership in Greenwich Village to a reform Democrat in 1961, and therefore could not hold on to his post as leader of Tammany Hall, the Manhattan Democratic organization. He has lost two attempts to regain the district leadership.

Two Back Screevane

Two reform Democratic congressmen in the Bronx—Jonathan B. Bingham and James H. Scheuer—Monday announced their support of city council President Paul R. Screevane for the mayoral nomination.

They passed up Ryan and City Councilman Paul O'Dwyer, another reform Democrat who is seeking the nomination. Bingham and Scheuer said at a joint news conference that a victory for City Comptroller Abraham D. Beame, the fourth candidate for the nomination, would be "a shot in the arm" for the Buckley organization in the Bronx.

Lindsay Returns

Republican Rep. John V. Lindsay, who resigned to become mayor, returned Monday night by plane from a week's vacation on St. Croix, Virgin Islands, and quickly went into huddles with campaign aides.

Beame refused Monday to sell $8 million worth of city notes on the ground that the interest rates were "absolutely too high." The notes had been offered by Beame, the city's top fiscal officer, for sale to provide money for urban renewal.

Beame said that "borrow now-pay later" financing of the current city expense budget under the administration of retiring Democratic Mayor Robert F. Wagner has caused interest rates on city borrowing to rise since last spring. The comptroller said he will confer with financial advisers before deciding whether to hold a new sale of the notes or to try to work out a negotiated bid with the syndicate whose bid he rejected.

The bid was 2.98 per cent, compared with 2.56 per cent accepted by Beame for similar notes May 18.

concerns a capricious woman who is being wooed, to her husband's apparent consternation, by a Turk who would like to add her to his harem, and by a poet who loves her with a fiercely platonic intensity. Confusion is compounded by a group of Gypsies who wheel freely in and out of the action and by a frustrated poet who tries to influence the characters, hoping to shape their problems into a great solution.

The solution they reach is as satisfying as it is improbable and everyone leaves happily, the Turk, the Italians, the Gypsies and the audience.

Fire Co. No. 3 Holds Fund Drive

The annual drive for operating funds is now underway by Woodstock Fire Co. No. 3, serving the Willow-Lake Hill-Shady areas.

Chairman Richard Peters announced today that the territory has been divided between various firemen of the company who will call on residents for donations for operation and improvement of Fire Co. No. 3.

An attractive brochure has been issued concerning the services offered by the volunteer firemen serving the district. Included in this brochure, said Peters, are the many improvements made possible in past years by donations from residents of the area and the support of the Ladies Auxiliary of the fire company.

Peters listed two tank trucks, first aid supplies, a resuscitator, and modern fire fighting facilities which resulted from public support in the past. He also pointed out that the company sponsors a Boy Scout Troop 62, the Ladies Auxiliary, and a Brownie Troop for young girls. He emphasized the constant drilling accomplished by the firemen and the daily checking of all equipment to make certain that it was ready for emergencies at any time of the day or night.

RECORD ROTARY BARBECUE—Over 1,200 servings were reported at the annual Kingston Rotary Club chicken barbecue held Saturday at the former Beatty Farm on Hurley Avenue. The barbecue was prepared and served by members of the local service club. Funds realized will be devoted to local community services. Feel Clausis Rate Apology

Ulster Democrats Tell Resnick to Stick to Job

The Town of Ulster Democratic Committee today told Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick (D-Ellenville) to "stop bickering" over the Federal patronage issue "by doing his job in Washington, and stop interfering in local party matters."

At the same time, the committee said it feels the congressman owes their former town chairmen, Patrick and Thomas Clausi an apology for saying at least one of them was consulted on the matter of issuing Federal jobs in their particular district.

View of County Leader

The strongly worded statement was the latest development in the open battle between Resnick's office—which maintains that patronage will be doled out through the congressman's office—and the Ulster County Democratic Committee whose chairman, Aaron E. Klein, says that such patronage should be channeled through the county committee.

The statement also gave noteworthy credence to the rumors that town committees and committeemen were being "bypassed" on consultation over Federal jobs in their district. At least two other town chairmen confirmed to The Freeman that they hadn't been consulted by Resnick's office.

The Clausi brothers, both former Town of Ulster Democratic chairmen, denied that they were consulted by Resnick's district representative, John Logan, who said that Patrick Clausi was consulted.

Charges a By-pass

Logan's comments were directed at Thomas Clausi, who made public charges that Resnick was ignoring town committees and committee chairman on Federal patronage and other issues. Clausi said that when he called the congressman he was told to "go to h—."

Logan said that the local level of doling out patronage "went out of style decades ago." He said Clausi was "totally uninformed about the workings of his party and town committee." Logan said that if Clausi "had been sensible enough to take a check with his town chairman who happened to be his brother (Patrick Clausi), he would know that the town chairman was consulted on the appointments in question."

'Deliberate Lie'

This was branded by Patrick Clausi as "a deliberate lie." He said that, "If Mr. Logan has the courage of his convictions, I challenge him to come to the Town of Ulster or any other place he choose, at his convenience, and debate the issue."

Thomas Clausi demanded an apology. When Logan said he should resign as town committeeman, he said, "I accept his challenge to unseat me from my chair, but Dictator Logan, don't send a boy to do a man's job." Today's statement by the Town of Ulster Democratic Committee said that the committee was "in complete agreement" with Thomas Clausi's statement, and "can and will testify to the veracity of the statement of former town chairman Patrick Clausi."

Ousted State Worker Asks Cop Retirement

NEW YORK (AP)—Lt. Mario Biaggi, much decorated New York City policeman who lost his state job last week after entering the city political campaign, has applied for retirement from the police department.

He is an unpaid campaign aide for City Comptroller Abraham D. Beame, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for mayor in the Sept. 14 primary. Secretary of State John P. Lomerozo, a Republican, fired Biaggi, 47, from a job in the Department of State shortly after he joined Beame's staff. Lomerozo said Biaggio declined to take a leave of absence and wanted a vacation to do campaigning.

"We deplore the fact that we are compelled to use public means of communication in an interparty squabble. However, it seems to be the congressman's desire to bring these things out and it has interfered in local party matters. That in itself, has been magnified by his insistence on publicity. We are therefore forced to answer in kind."

"We appeal to Congressman Resnick to stop this bickering by doing his job in Washington, and stop interfering in local party matters, particularly as regards duly nominated Democratic candidates. Lastly, we feel he owes Mr. Clausi an apology, and we hope it is soon forthcoming."

The statement was signed by the Town of Ulster Democratic Committee, Walter N. Peterson, acting chairman.

Dutchess Man Is Held for Jury On Rape Charge

A Dutchess County man was ordered held for action of the grand jury in that county Monday after he waived preliminary examination following his arrest on a first degree rape charge.

Joseph Anthony Wallace, 25, of 176 Vicle Road, La Grangeville, was committed to the Dutchess County Jail in lieu of $5,000 bail after his appearance before Peace Justice Laurence Hancock, Town of Fishkill.

Trooper John Turk of the Fishkill substation of State Police, said that Wallace allegedly assaulted a 21-year-old woman in his home. He said that the alleged victim, also of La Grangeville, was reportedly attacked at knifepoint. Fishkill troopers investigated.
